Women report being followed

The Eugene Police Department recently has received a high number of complaints from University women who say men are following them.

Officer Gary Elliott said 30 or 40 women have called Campus Security during the past few weeks with such reports. Some women gave similar descriptions of the males, and police have identified a possible suspect, he said.

Pulitzer poet reads works

Pulitzer-prize winning poet Gary Snyder will read poems, including some from a new book that will be published this fall, today at 8 p.m. in the EMU Ballroom.

Snyder, who is a 1951 Reed College graduate, won a Pulitzer prize for a 1974 work entitled "Turtle Island."

Tickets for the Cultural Forum-sponsored event are available at the EMU Main Desk.

Slippin' and slidin'

The Humboldt "Buds" were smokin' compared to Eugene's spacey Dark Star ultimate frisbee team. Sunday's match was one of the last in the weekend-long "Mudbowl."

Turning campus intramural football fields into an acre of three-inch deep mud, ultimate frisbee players from Oregon and California slid, slopped and slipped their way through a nine-team round robin tournament.

Although the object of ultimate frisbee is to advance a plastic disc from one end of a field to another, players seemed content just to maintain their footing.

"We had a good time. Got muddy," said Doug Phelps of the "Mojo Flyers," the University club sports team that sponsored the tournament.

The Associated Students of the University of Oregon!

The ASUO is comprised of many programs.

NATIVE AMERICAN STUDENT UNION (NASU)

The Native American Student Union makes Indian cultural and educational materials available to the University of Oregon campus. NASU embodies the Indian students' love and pursuit of their traditional tribal heritages and maintains cultural integrity within the non-Indian academic community. Many of NASU's activities are held at the Indian Longhouse, 1606 Columbia Street. Major annual events are: the American Indian Pow-Wow, salmon feast and religious services, and various symposiums. For more information call 686-3723 or 686-3799.

WOMEN IN COMMUNICATION, INC. (WICI)

WICI is a national professional organization of more than 9,000 members involving both women and men in all areas of communication. For students, WICI offers advisors on careers and internships in many communication fields, including newspapers, magazines, radio, television, advertising, public relations, photo journalism and publishing. These internships give students valuable experience and the chance to meet professionals in the industry. WICI members also have access to job bulletins and newsletters. For more information, call 696-3824.

Wondering what's happening with draft registration?

Campus ACLU and Students Opposing Registration and the Draft are sponsoring a panel discussion Thursday, March 10 at 12:30 p.m. in the EMU Forum Room. Financial aid restrictions, legislation to remove funding for the Selective Service and how new draft boards are being set up will be discussed. Speakers will be Peter DeFazio, Lane County Commissioner and member of the Eugene/Springfield Draft Board; Dave Fidanque, Associate Director of the ACLU of Oregon; and Ann Warner from the office of Senator Mark Hatfield. The discussion is free.

Calendar — March 30, 31, & April 1 is the Program Faire, EMU room 167, 12-4 p.m.

The ASUO Program Press needs good reporters, preferably Journalism majors. Contact Vincson T. Green, Editor. For details, 686-3724.
