

A Russian's view of nuclear war aired

University geography professor Ron Wixman will discuss the Russian citizen's perception of nuclear war Sunday at 7 p.m. at the Unitarian Church, 477 E. 40th Avenue.

Wixman will evaluate the views that the Russian "man on the street" has in relation to the concerns of his American counterpart over the nuclear arms race.

The free speech, sponsored by the Unitarian Church and the University speakers' bureau, is entitled "Does Ivan Feel He Can Trust the Americans?"

Wixman's speech is the last in a series of four church presentations featuring University professors.

Wixman has studied Russia and East Europe extensively, and he participated in the recent East European studies festival, providing a collection of Macedonian costumes for display.

Fifth ASUO bookkeeper quits amid charge of mismanagement

The ASUO is looking for a temporary work-study bookkeeper to replace a recently resigned comptroller.

ASUO Comptroller Kevin Kouns said in a written resignation statement that his responsibilities as a SEARCH instructor and duties as ASUO vice president-elect forced him to resign last Friday.

Kouns' departure marks the fifth comptroller resignation this year. Two comptrollers quit for personal reasons and two more quit because of the political tension in the office during the ASUO elections.

ASUO Pres. C.J. Balfe says Kouns was keeping David Gibson, ASUO vice president for administration and finance, from balancing the books.

"We asked him to get out of the comptroller's business," Balfe says. "He doesn't know how to manage money."

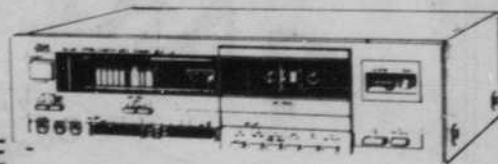

The bookkeeper will get the books caught up and do spot audits, Gibson says. Students should inquire about the position in EMU Suite 4 because applications are not open.

Dine, dance at Nigerian night

Nigerian dances and traditional cuisine will be featured at Nigerian Student Night Sunday at 6 p.m. in the EMU Ballroom.

The event is designed to "promote cultural understanding between Americans and Nigerian students," says Joseph Udi, Nigerian Student Association president.

Films, arts and crafts exhibitions and folklore also will be featured at the Foreign Student Organization-sponsored night.

Tickets are $3 for students and $4 for the general public and may be purchased in advance at the EMU Main Desk,
