PEACE CORPS Special Work For Special People

Peace Corps volunteers are people pretty much like you. People with commitment and skills who have assessed their lives and decided they want to be of service to others in a troubled world.

The problems our volunteers deal with overseas aren't new. Such as the cycle of poverty that traps one generation after another because they're too busy holding on to get ahead. The debilitating effects of malnutrition, disease, and inadequate shelter. Education and skills that are lacking, and the means to get them too.

Your college training qualifies you to handle more of these problems than you might think. Such as teaching nutrition and health practices; designing and building bridges and irrigation systems; working on reforestation and fisheries programs; introducing better agricultural techniques; advising small businesses and establishing cooperatives; or teaching math and science at the secondary level.

The number of jobs to do is nearly as great as the number of volunteers who have served since 1961: Nearly 90,000. More volunteers are being chosen now for two-year assignments beginning in the next 3-12 months in Africa, Asia, Latin America, and the Pacific.

Our representatives will be pleased to discuss the opportunities with you.

Reagan says he'll run

WASHINGTON — Pres. Ronald Reagan gave the go-ahead on Thursday for the establishment of a campaign committee for the re-election of himself and Vice Pres. George Bush. Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., who will head the effort, said "I have no doubt...that Ronald Reagan will be a candidate for re-election."

Laxalt, the general chairman of the Republican party and the chairman of both previous Reagan campaigns for the presidency, said he would formally establish the re-election panel on Monday and file the necessary documents with the Federal Election Commission.

Also on Monday, the president will sign a letter formally authorizing the step, Laxalt said, noting that "He will legally be a candidate at that point." He said that Reagan would delay a full declaration of his candidacy until the current congressional session ends, probably shortly before Thanksgiving.

offices in west Beirut Thursday evening, wounding one of the Marines.

Embassy spokesman John Stewart said the grenade was pitched at the main Marine security checkpoint in front of the Durafor building about 7:30 p.m. (1:30 p.m. EDT).

A spokesman for the 1,600-man U.S. Marine contingent in Beirut, Maj. Robert Jordan, said the wounded Marine was a member of the peacekeeping force guarding the embassy and not one of the State Department's regular embassy guards.

Jordan said the Marine was wounded "in the upper left leg and ankle" and evacuated to the Marine compound at Beirut airport where he was treated and reported "in good condition."

Four Marines have been killed and 40 wounded in grenade attacks and bombardments on the positions of the U.S. peacekeepers since Lebanon's latest round of violence began Aug. 28.

three local residents linked arms in a ring around a large black walnut Thursday to protect it from a chainsaw.

Richard Morgan, chair, of the Medford Centennial Commission, angrily resigned his post after police removed him, his wife and another woman from the two-foot-thick tree trunk estimated to be 75 years old.

After police removed the protestors from the tree, Morgan went to his home across the street and came out with a briefcase he said contained plans for the upcoming centennial.

"If you're going to cut these trees, you can grow your own centennial celebration," Morgan said, emptying the papers on his front lawn.

The protestors were part of a group of area residents who have been fighting a losing court battle to halt plans to widen Crater Lake Avenue, claiming the work would destroy the historical character of the neighborhood.

The issue was expected to be brought before a meeting of the City Council.

EPA OKs lindane use

WASHINGTON — The Environmental Protection Agency on Thursday abandoned efforts to outlaw most uses of lindane, a cancer-causing chemical and one of the most popular pesticides.

Under the Carter administration, the agency had proposed in 1980 to cancel all but a few minor uses of lindane because laboratory tests with animals showing it caused cancer, birth defects and acute toxicity to aquatic wildlife.

However, in the final regulations Thursday the agency said it was banning use of lindane only in smoke fumigation devices and as a dip to control pests on dogs.

Lindane is one of the most popular pesticides. The EPA estimated in 1980 that 126 million Americans are exposed to the compound each year. There are 557 products registered for use containing lindane.

Lindane is used in homes and gardens to control insects and fight termites and on farms to treat seeds in storage and fight insects on fruit and vegetable crops and on livestock.

Riots block Army base

BREMERHAVEN, West Germany — Helmeted riot police dragged away 255 anti-nuclear protesters and turned water cannon on hundreds of others who joined an all-day blockade Thursday of a U.S. Army base and a major North Sea port.

At sunrise, 2,500 demonstrators gathered to blockade three entrances to Carl Schurz Barracks and to temporarily seal off the adjoining port of Midgard on the outskirts of Bremerhaven. Some demonstrators handed flowers to police.

The demonstration was the start of a three-day protest against NATO deployment of new U.S. nuclear missiles in Western Europe. It was the first of a series of anti-nuclear protests scheduled around West Germany in the next 10 days in what the peace movement bills as its "hot autumn."
