SUAB

Student University Affairs Board members voted down the person recommended by the ASUO executive to be an EMU board member and discussed the governance issue at length at the SUAB meeting Thursday.

Former SUAB member Dave Bauer, who did not satisfy the board with his position on the EMU board's policy on free speech, was not approved as a member of the EMU board in a SUAB vote.

Members reported on their progress lobbying faculty regarding the proposed reduction in student senate members and discussed strategies for a compromise make-up in the body.

IFC

Nineteen ASUO organizations attended the Incidental Fee Committee meeting Thursday to hear information on writing group goals in preparation for preparing their budgets for 1984-85.

Bill Hallmark, ASUO coordinator of programs and finance, told the group the purpose of the meeting was to establish funding criteria.

After explaining the guidelines established by the ASUO for funding, Hallmark then introduced each member of the IFC.

IFC Chair Julie Davis then told the 19 groups what the committee would look for when examining goals and budgets and encouraged anyone unfamiliar with the process to seek the help of their "tag."

A "tag" is that member of the IFC assigned to a particular program and the person who becomes the most knowledgeable about that program's budget.

Jim Middaugh, recently hired as editor of the ASUO newspaper Off the Record, told the group the paper intended to publish information about the ASUO programs and encouraged them to contribute information.

CONSTITUTION COURT

The ASUO executive is appealing the wording of a recently adopted IFC resolution to the Constitution Court.

The resolution in question states, "if the conditions set forth for release of allocated incidental fees are not being met, the IFC reserves the right to freeze a program's accounts."

Because neither party has requested oral arguments, Court Chair Alan Contreras has requested briefs from the parties and says the Court will meet in closed session to decide the issue.

In another Court matter, University student Tom Birkland has asked a hearings officer to find that there is no conflict of interest in his holding positions on three different ASUO organizations.

Birkland, a senior majoring in political science, is a member of SUAB, director of the Political Science Student Union and director of the campus chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Hearings officer Joseph Hollander met with Birkland Tuesday and is preparing a ruling for the Court.

Birkland says no questions of conflict have been raised, but he wants to settle the issue before any are.

Women to encircle plant

About 50 women from Eugene will join other women from the Northwest today in encircling the Boeing Cruise Missile Plant in Kent, Washington.

The women, who are protesting the imminent deployment of the first intermediate nuclear weapons in Europe this December, are "in solidarity and conjunction with 10 days of demonstrations in Europe," said Eugene coordinator Janet Anderson at the Eugene contingent's send-off rally Sunday.

Speaking informally at the Grower's Market loading dock on 454 Willamette St, Anderson said she fears that because the Cruise missiles are smaller than other nuclear weapons, "there may be more of a temptation to use them."

Gail Elber, who drove one of the vans to the Seattle area, said the women hope to talk to Boeing employees, as have members of the "peace camp." Eight women are living on Kent Boeing premises in one of the camps that have been set up at Cruise missile and Pershing 2 plants around the country.

The encirclement is scheduled from 2 to 4:30 p.m. today.

A demonstration is also planned today at 1:30 p.m. at the Litton Industries plant in Grants Pass.
