nity College campus. Middle school games are played at 3:30

Outdoors

Cross country skiing will be the topic of a series of workshops, movies and lectures sponsored by the University Outdoor Program over the next two weeks. All events will begin at 7 p.m. in the Outdoor Program office in the Erb Memorial Union.
For more information, call 686-4365. The series of events include:

Nov. 15: A showing of "If You Can Walk" and "Skinny Skiing," two introductory movies on
cross country skiing, will be followed by a discussion on how to get involved in inexpensive, cooperative Outdoor Program ski outings.

Nov. 16: Representatives from the ski touring community will discuss and display skis, boots, poles and binding. Differences in manufacturers, construction, use and cost will be discussed.

Nov. 17: A discussion of ski-touring clothing needs will emphasize how to keep clothing costs down and still feel and look good. A movie on the prevention and treatment of hypothermia and other cold-related injuries will also be shown.

Nov. 22: A slide show on nordic downhill skiing in Oregon will be shown, and it will be followed by a discussion on nordic downhill equipment, clothing and safety.

Profiles

Arizona State's David Adams will probably never set a Pacific-10 Conference rushing record or make the league all-star team. Why? Because at 5-6 and 158 pounds, Adams is a touch on the small side for playing college football from the tailback position.

But that hasn't stopped Adams and literally hundreds of other high school football players from going to college and playing college football. To honor those gallant young (and small) men, the Emerald has compiled a Pac-10 all-small team. After looking through the first and second teams, you'll probably notice what we did — that few of the players on the all-small team are on the Pac-10 all-conference team. For that matter, few are starters, most are freshman, and the majority never see anything more than a junior varsity game or the daily grind of practice.

But still they persevere. We salute their efforts.
