Printer, student hold free exhibit

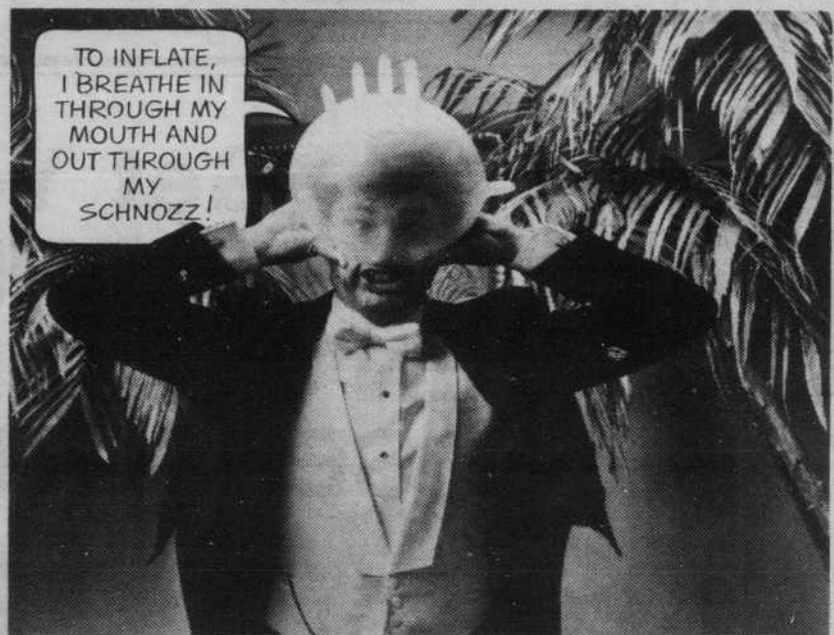

A collection of drawings by an award-winning printmaker and marble sculptures by a graduate fine arts student will go on display Monday, Nov. 21, in Gallery 141 at the University's School of Architecture and Allied Arts.

The free exhibit will be open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Dec. 2. Gallery 141 is in Lawrence Hall.

Marble sculptures by Bud Egger, a University master of fine arts degree candidate from Boring, will be displayed in conjunction with 12 drawings by printmaker LaVerne Krause, a University professor of fine arts.

"Egger will present major marble sculptures on both large and small scales, and Krause, a well-known Oregon artist, will display drawings which exemplify her current work," says Vince Zettler, gallery director. In 1980, Krause was the recipient of an Oregon Governor's Award for the Arts.

A public reception for the artists will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 18, in the gallery.
