Outdoors

A workshop on whitewater rafting is being offered tonight by the University's Outdoor Program. To help you get involved in this outdoor sport, the program's raft co-op is holding a free session that will cover personal clothing, river safety, raft repair, and how to participate in the raft co-op. Trips from the co-op have floated nearly every river in western America. This session will be held in the Outdoor Program's office in the basement of the EMU beginning at 7:30 p.m. Exploring the islands of the South Pacific is the topic of a multi-media slide show Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the EMU Forum Room. This presentation follows the journey of two sun lovers as they explore French Polynesia, New Zealand's southern Alps, Tasmania and the west coast of Australia. For information on either presentation, contact the Outdoor Program at 686-4365.
