Board to consider budget

By Mike Sims
Of the Emerald

The first step toward funding Oregon's college and university system during 1985-87 will be taken by the State Board of Higher Education today and Friday at the University.

The board will convene tonight at 7:30 as a committee of the whole to review a proposed budget package totaling $162.2 million. The final budget request as approved by the board will be submitted to Gov. Vic Atiyeh for possible inclusion in the 1985-87 budget he will send to the legislature.

Tuition rates will also be considered, as the Oregon Student Lobby would like the current rate freeze to remain in effect through 1987. The 1983 Legislature appropriated $20.6 million to freeze tuition at 1982-83 levels through the 1984-85 academic year. OSU executive director Sherry Oeser said in a letter to board members that the freeze should be extended through the 1985-87 biennium.

OSL research indicates that Oregon tuition levels are much higher than the Western state average. "Even with a two-year tuition freeze, Oregon's tuition levels remain the highest in the West," Oeser said.

Oeser also pointed out in the letter that the state System of Higher Education's 1983-87 Strategic Plan calls for a tuition freeze to remain in effect until Oregon tuition rates are comparable to those in other Western states.

The committee will also review a proposed 1985-91 capital construction program, which was submitted to the board by Chancellor Bud Davis of the State System of Higher Education.

Included in the proposal are Davis' recommendations for priority listings of construction projects and land acquisitions during the 1985-87 biennium. These include building modifications to remove access barriers for the handicapped at four state institutions, including the University.

Additions and alterations to the University's Architecture and Allied Arts complex are a key part of the proposed program. The project is top priority on a list of 12 construction projects to be financed from self-liquidating bond borrowings and/or balances available for auxiliary enterprises.

The full board will convene at 10 a.m. Friday to review the budget proposals and the capital construction program.

The board will also hold three public hearings Friday, one on the proposed adoption of an Oregon Administrative Rule establishing guidelines and procedures for development of incidental fee recommendations. Hearings will also be held on the proposed amendment of an OAR pertaining to sick leave for academic personnel, and on recreational facility designs for the Oregon Institute of Technology in Klamath Falls. Hearings are scheduled to begin at 11 a.m.

All sessions will be held in the Dad's Room of the EMU.
