

Only three show for trivia game

Only three trivia buffs showed up Monday night for the Recreation Center's first weekly Trivial Pursuit competition.

Mike Elli, Ethan Guinn and Tom Journey toured the game board answering questions such as "What color is Spock's blood?" "What baseball great flogged Mr. Coffee?" and "Who played Rowdy Yates on Rawhide?"

The Recreation Center will try to attract more players for next Monday's game. Interested trivia lovers should organize in teams of four or call the center at 686-3711.

ASUO distributes voting guide

The Oregon Student Lobby Voter's Guide is being distributed this week. The guide provides information on the positions of legislative candidates on student issues, the voting record of legislators during the 1983 legislative session and a summary of legislation affecting students introduced in the 1983 Legislature.

"The guide is designed to help you find legislators who are voting right on legislative issues," says OSU research assistant Myrnie Daut.

The guide also includes questionnaires answered by incumbent and challenging candidates for state representative and senate offices, showing their views on student issues such as tuition, financial aid and Ballot Measure 2, which would limit property taxes if passed, Daut says.

Absentee ballot forms and a listing of county election offices are included in the voter's guide. Students can pick up copies of the voter's guide this week at the ASUO office, Suite 4, EMU.

Panel will discuss tax measure

Ballot Measure 2, which places a 1.5-percent limit on property tax, will be the topic of a "brown bag" forum in the EMU Ballroom Thursday at noon.

The forum will focus on the economic impact of the measure, specifically its effect on higher education.

Speakers include Lloyd Anderson, executive director of the Port of Portland; Norma Jean Germond, former president of the League of Women Voters; and James Reinmuth, dean of the University business college.

The forum is to be a discussion, not a debate, forum sponsors say. All three speakers oppose the measure. Open mikes will be available for audience questions.
