Newman: Football is his first love

By Mahlon Beachy
Of the Emerald

Today, few athletes can compete in more than one sport at the college or pro level. The training and specialized skills required to excel at one sport are seldom applicable to another. A few athletes, like former Eugene star Dan Ainge, succeed at two or three sports because of their knowledge of the games they play. Others, like ex-University basketballer

Ron Lee, achieve multi-sport success through intense desire and competitive fervor. Then there are those who excel at virtually any sport they try because of their speed, strength and athletic ability. Anthony Newman is one of those fortunate few.

Newman, who will be a sophomore this fall, is a promising cornerback for the Duck football team. But he was also the third pick of the Cleveland Indians baseball team, and the 53rd pick overall, in the secondary phase of the baseball draft several weeks ago.

"I was really surprised," said Newman. "A couple guys came up to me in the weight room and said 'congratulations on getting drafted.' I said 'what, in baseball again?' I was drafted by the Toronto Blue Jays in the 23rd round of the primary draft in June, but I hadn't heard anything about Cleveland."

"Anthony has a lot of athletic ability," said Mike Bubalo, Beaverton High School baseball coach, of his former pupil.

have been a lot better, too, if he would've put the time in for things like winter ball. But he was really occupied with foot-

— Anthony Newman

"He's got average pro speed, an average pro arm and he's really got a lot of pop in his bat. He can hit it a long way. He could ball. That's his first love." It was football, after all, that RIMrobics - Come and join this active group every Tuesday and Thursday beginning at 3:45pm in Gerlinger Annex 350. There is no charge, and you will get a good 50 minute workout. The instructor has a good variety of routines and will keep you "hopping".

Racquetball Doubles - There will be divisions for men and women. Entry deadline is Friday, February 15. The tournament will be played on Sunday, February 17 beginning at 1:00pm. Get your partner and sign up at the RIM office, 103 Gerlinger.

Swim Meet - Make your big SPLASH for the term. Come and sign up your team for the IM Swim Meet to be held at Leighton Pool on Thursday, February 21. If you don't have a team, that's ok - you can sign as an individual competitor. Events and details are available at the RIM office. Team entries are due Tuesday, February 19 by 5:00pm.

Scotch Doubles Bowling - So what is scotch doubles bowling, you ask? It's basic and fun. This is the way it works. Partners roll every other ball regardless of frame. Each person bowls the equivalent of 2 games. Games are handicapped. Entry blanks available at RIM office or at the EMU Recreation Desk. Sign up now!

Sports Photography Contest - Dig out one of your good efforts from the past to work up a new one. Details on mounting and categories available at RIM office. Entry deadline is March 8. Winning photos will be displayed.
