EATING RAOUL

Eating Raoul is a clever, satirical look at sex, greed and modern times. Paul Bartel and Mary Woronov (both starred in Rock 'n' Roll High School) are a married couple who stumble upon a scheme to raise enough money to open their own restaurant. It's simple. They just lure wealthy perverts (via newspaper ads) to their apartment, bonk them on the head with a deadly frying pan and steal their cash. Delightfully crazy Raoul (Robert Beltran) is a rip-off artist who discovers two victims in garbage bags and wants a piece of the action.

"One of the freshest, funniest comedies in years."
-Bruce Williamson
Playboy

"Eating Raoul is one of the nicest and gentlest movies of the year. Paul Bartel evokes some of the delicious complexities of the more recent Bunuel films. I cannot think of higher praise."
-Village Voice

"★ ★ ★ ★ ...One of the best American movies I've seen in a long time. A beautiful visionary film...one of the rare films that grants Latin Americans full humanity."
-Roger Ebert/Chicago Sun Times/At the Movies

"Vivid and remarkable...Stunning...It is rare to see a modern movie that has topical pertinence, mythical sweep and also a sense of humor...Undeniably moving."
-David Elliott/USA Today
