Men's track team bombs OSU

By Allan Lazo

Of the Emerald

CORVALLIS — The Oregon men's track-and-field team finished its dual-meet season in grand fashion Saturday, as the Ducks downed the Oregon State University Beavers 100-63 for the 11th straight year.

The Ducks won 13 of the 19 events en route to giving coach Bill Dellinger his 11th consecutive winning season. Oregon finished with dual record of 4-3.

Oregon's NCAA competitors will remain at seven heading into the Pacific-10 Conference Championships Friday and Saturday in Tuscon, Ariz.

Some Ducks were looking for some NCAA qualifying-marks, but only a few came close in Corvallis Saturday.

"There weren't any great surprises," Dellinger said. "I think our guys haven't done anything that inspirational, but they all went out and did their jobs. There were good marks but nothing great."

The Ducks' best marks came in the field events, where they had five personal bests.

Oregon high jumper Walt Reynolds became the first jumper this season, the 10th in Duck history, to clear the 7-0 mark. The junior's jump won the event over two Bears, who tied for second at 6-10.

"It feels really good, not surprisingly," Reynolds said. "I wasn't really surprised to jump it today. I just kind of knew it was going to happen, and it came real easy."

Reynolds' next task will be to qualify for the NCAA meet. Reynolds earned a trip to the Pac-10 meet by breaking out of a pack of high jumpers that had been deadlocked at around 6-11. The mark he needs to shoot for now is 7-3½.

"I have the feeling now that 7-0 is gone that the barrier is broken, and it won't take quite so long to improve."

The Ducks' other big performers in the field also produced wins. Ken Flax hit a winning 240-6 mark in the hammer, and Kory Tarpenning cleared 18-2½ to win the pole vault.

"I thought about maybe putting it up to 19-¼, and I was thinking about that last night," Tarpenning said in the wake of Joe Dial's American record-breaking jump of 19-1½ on Friday.

"I think I am capable of jumping that high (19-¼), but 18-2 to 19-0 is a pretty big jump. I thought maybe if I could get over 18-8 that would be a good step on the way and then maybe go onto 19-0."

In the long jump, Uchenna Agu took first (23-7¼) but later missed an opportunity to qualify for the NCAA meet in the triple jump. Agu finished second at 47-4½ after also competing in the 4x100 relay.
