In brief

University hosts College Bowl

Students from ten colleges and universities will test their knowledge of trivia Saturday in the College Bowl regional competition hosted by the University.

Competing for the University in the "varsity sport of the mind," will be Steve Van Devender of Junction City, Mark Curnell of Portland, and David Boyes, Michael Maude and Joe Grant, all of Salem.

Students from southern Oregon to Alaska who have successfully competed in college bowls at their own schools will join their teams to try for eligibility in the national competition, says Sally Smith, college bowl coordinator.

The event will begin at 10 a.m. and may last all day, Smith says. Finals will be held around 4 p.m., and spectators are encouraged to attend. Rounds will be held simultaneously in Room 167 EMU and the EMU Forum Room.

Timed questions on literature, history, science, sports, music and television trivia will be fired at the student teams.

Other school teams competing will be from Southern

Oregon State College, Whitman College, University of Washington, University of Alaska, University of Idaho, Boise State University, Idaho State University, University of Puget Sound and Seattle Pacific University.

Hanford waste topic of lecture

"Hanford: The Nuclear Age in the Northwest" is the title of a key series of talks to be presented at the University in Room 167 EMU today from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Hanford, located in southeast Washington, is under study as one of the three final locations to begin receiving the nation's first large-scale shipments of nuclear wastes.

The keynote address, "Hanford: A Kaleidoscope of Issues," will be given by Norma Jean Germond, past president of the Oregon League of Women Voters, at 10:30 a.m.

Magician gives unusual show

A performance Sunday will reveal more magic tricks than just pulling rabbits out of hats. Andre Kole says his "World of Illusion" is an unusual show, featuring such stunts as materializing, de-materializing, disintegrating and levitating people.

Sponsored by the Campus Crusade for Christ and First Baptist Church College Class, the event will be held at the Hult Center Silva Concert Hall at 8 p.m. Tickets are $4.50 and can be purchased at the door.

Kole is a creative consultant for television magicians Doug Henning and David Copperfield. In 1982, the American Academy of Magical Arts presented Kole with the highest award available in the magical profession.

SPJ sponsors journalism event

Journalism students will have the opportunity to explore job prospects in the fields of news/editorial, broadcast, advertising and public relations Saturday at the "Journalism Career Seminar." The seminar is from 8:30 a.m. to noon in Room 129 of the law school.

Tickets are available for $2.50 in Room 201 Allen Hall or on Saturday at the door for $3.

The event is sponsored by the Society of Professional Journalists.
