

Festival to celebrate Irish customs

The fourth annual Eugene/Springfield Irish Festival will feature an Irish party, a fun run and an Irish music concert Friday through Monday.

An Irish party at The Factory, 4740 Main St., Springfield, starts at 5 p.m. Friday evening. The $5 cover charge includes food, drink and plenty of entertainment (over 21 only).

A 5,000-meter fun run and a 10,000-meter competitive race start Saturday at Autzen Stadium to raise money for the Sheldon High School Fighting Irish. There is a $7 entrance fee.

Fiddler Tom McCreesh and Eugene dramatist Jane VanBoskirk will kick off Saturday evening's entertainment with poetry, drama and pub music at deFrisco's, 10th Ave. and Olive St. in the Atrium building. Musicians are encouraged to join in an Irish music session afterward.

A Celtic concert and dance will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Sunday at the WOW Hall, featuring Sailor's Bonnet and Flying Haggis dance bands along with demo dancers and dance callers. There will be two concert sets, one by each band, followed by an English, a Scottish and an Irish dance demonstration.

For more information on these events and others planned for the Irish Festival, call 485-3882.
