

Merging
Import Practicality
With American Driving Fun.

Today's Chevrolet is merging a world of ideas. Importing small cars like the new Chevy Spectrum to bring you the practicality of the imports inside a car that's fun to drive. It's a combination we call Spectrums. On the road, Spectrum gets an EPA estimated [38] city, 42 highway MPG.* Inside, Spectrum is big enough for four adults and offers little touches like storage compartments in the armrests. In back, Spectrum's trunk conceals an even bigger storage compartment.

Up front, a high-compression 1.5-liter engine takes Spectrum from 0 to 50 on the test track in a sporty 8.2 seconds. Front drive and rack-and-pinion steering provide a tight, precise feel through the turns.

With Spectrum, practicality and fun are coming together affordably. Because Today's Chevrolet is merging a world of ideas to bring you a world of small cars.

*Use for comparison. Your mileage may differ.

Spectrum
It's Got Spectrums.