

Going to the YMCA...

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity members took a trip to the YMCA Monday night during the Greek Week Air Band Competition at McArthur Court. The Lambda Chi's Village People performance was good enough to earn them first place among the fraternities. Among sororities, the Tri Delt's rendition of the theme from "The Revenge of the Nerds" was the top entry.

Mayfest features exhibits, entertainment

Mayfest, the University's annual spring celebration of the campus and the community, got underway Monday with a full schedule of events in the EMU.

The Student University Relations Council has planned a week of activities that will end Sunday with "Hands Around Campus," a human chain that will form a link around the EMU from Agate to University streets.

An aerobics dance class runs from 8 to 9 a.m. today in Esslinger Hall and will be repeated again at 4 p.m. in Gerlinger Hall. Exhibits and seminars on health will be featured today from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the EMU Terrace and in Rooms 110-111. An exhibit of black art runs today and Wednesday in Room 167 EMU.

A campus ice cream social sponsored by Mortar Board and the Dean of Students is scheduled from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the Gerlinger

Alumni Lounge.

In addition to daily events, several Mayfest activities run through Friday, including the Mystery Duck Contest and Only UO Trivia. Listeners of radio station KDUK can call in and win prizes by correctly answering trivia questions about the University.

Friday marks the beginning of Parent's Weekend and the Willamette Valley Folk Festival. Musical entertainment is scheduled through Sunday on the east lawn of the EMU. A "Night on the Bricks" street dance sponsored by the Black Student Union will feature the band Carrera and run from 7 to 10 p.m.

Hands Around Campus was added to the schedule to show the University's support for Hands Across America, a nationwide effort to feed hungry and homeless people, said Mayfest Chairperson Becky Markee.

Festival to focus on black artists

The annual Black Arts Festival opens tonight with a presentation on black artists by Dr. Samella Lewis. Lewis is a consultant for the National Endowments for the Arts and Humanities and a member of the Fulbright awards Screening Committee.

Lewis will deliver the keynote address for the Black Student Union-sponsored festival tonight from 7 to 9 p.m. in 167 EMU.

Lewis, a leading authority and historian on Black American artists, is the founder of Black Arts Magazine: An International Quarterly.

Lewis also established the Los Angeles Museum of Afro-American Art in 1976, and has written numerous articles and books about black artists and art.

Many of the artists recognized in the keynote address are featured in an art exhibit which opens today in 167 EMU.

CME Director Jewel Bell has donated works from her private art collection for the exhibit. Art works from famous international artists, as well as local and student artists, will be displayed.

The festival concludes Sunday with a gospel jamboree on the EMU West Lawn from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. John Gaynor's Gospel Ensemble and ensembles from various areas churches will perform.
