

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON
Continuation Center

sponsors in association with

Leisure Studies and Services American Studies Speech Pathology-Audiology Linguistics
International Studies School of Architecture and Allied Arts Ethnic Studies

Body Image-
WST 410M (02 credits)
TLN 7282
Oct. 1 - Dec. 8
Student Fee $25
Instructor: Barbara Weinstein
207 Chapman Hall
19:00 - 20:50 W
"Body-Image" deals with an area of vital interest today - the rise of eating disorders and the pursuit of thinness as an ideal for women. The course places abnormal eating behavior and attitudes toward the female body in a cultural context, drawing connections between circumstances of health, food supply, women's role in society, and stereotypes of beauty.

The Africans-
Telecourse
ES 410M (04 credits)
TLN 7450
Orientation Meeting:
Oct. 6, 19:00-20:00, 138
Gilbert Hall
Student Fee $112
Instructor: David Anthony
This nine program series and the accompanying texts explore the three major influences which have shaped contemporary Africa: an indigenous heritage, Western culture, and Islamic culture. Students will watch the series, complete reading assignments in the texts and submit written assignments for a grade. The orientation meeting will be videotaped for those students unable to attend. Call 686-3537 for brochure and registration information.

Literature of the Vietnam War-
AMS 407 (03 credits)
TLN 7403
Sept. 30 - Dec. 9
Student Fee $30.00
Instructor: Gerry Kamp
201 Condon School
19:00 - 20:20 U & H
The Vietnam War has had a strong impact on the individuals who fought in it, on the correspondents who covered it and on American society in general. In this course we will establish an historical context for the literature of the war, including how America became involved in Vietnam and why the war lasted as long as it did. We will then turn our attention to a number of representative texts written about the war by authors who were directly involved in it, either as veterans or as correspondents. Our discussions will include such topics as heroism in Vietnam, the impact of the war on individuals and groups, how vets have and have not come to terms with their war experience, the anti-war movement, and the many ways the Vietnam era has affected American society today. Finally, we will try to determine if and how the books still affect us today.

Self-Hypnosis-
Sept. 29 - Nov. 17
Student Fee $35.00
Instructor: Ronna Friend
204 Condon Hall
19:30 - 21:20 M
Hypnosis is a natural state of focused concentration which all of us experience daily. The purpose of this class is to learn specific techniques to induce this state in order to achieve personal goals. Possible goals might include relaxation, stress management, habit control, dream awareness, increased creativity, and improved concentration and study habits.

American Sign Language IV-
SPA 407G (03 credits)
TLN 8347
Sept. 30 - Dec. 9, 1986
Course Fee: Undergraduate $105.00
Graduate $204.00
Instructor: Iris Peters
IMC Studio E
15:30 - 17:00 U & H
For a course description or more information, contact Iris Peters at 686-3591.

The Story of English-Telecourse
LING 407M (03 credits)
TLN 7404
Orientation Meeting:
Oct. 7, 19:00 - 20:00, 138
Gilbert Hall
Student Fee $84
Instructor: Derry Malsch
This nine program series, narrated by Robert MacNeil, traces "the development of the English language from its origins as the speech of a small tribe on the shores of northwest Europe to its present status as the world's leading language". Students will watch the series, complete reading assignments and submit written assignments for a grade. The orientation meeting will be videotaped for those students unable to attend. Call 686-3537 for brochure and registration information.

Imagine That!-
Oct. 2 - Nov. 13
Student Fee $35.00
Instructor: Nancy Hopps
151 Education
19:30 - 21:20 H
"Imagine That!", attracting students of all ages, focuses on the use and practical application of relaxation techniques, creative visualization, affirmations and goal setting.

Art Therapy: Media and Techniques-
LSS 410G (03 credits)
TLN 7429
Sept. 30 - Dec. 9
Student Fee $35
Instructor: Leigh Files
112 Esslinger Hall
14:30 - 17:20 U
An experiential course using art therapy media and techniques appropriate to individual and group work. Focuses on media exploration, spontaneous art expressions, and structured art therapy interventions. Includes experiential processes and lecture/discussion of the theoretical principles and practical applications directly related to the studio experience.

The Chinese: Past/Future-Telecourse
INTL 407G (03 credits)
TLN 7430
Orientation Meeting: TBA
Student Fee $84
Instructor: Staff
Based on the highly successful, 12 part PBS series "The Heart of the Dragon", this course offers an unprecedented view of China as a country torn by conflicting forces of modernization and tradition. Students will watch the series, complete reading assignments in the accompanying texts and submit written assignments for a grade. The orientation meeting will be videotaped for those students unable to attend. Call 686-3537 for brochure and registration information.

Fifth Annual Pacific Northwest Computer Graphics Conference-AAA 410G
TLN 4396
Oct. 27 - Oct. 28, 1986
Student Fee $25. (See Brochure.)
Instructor: Linda Ettinger
Eugene Conference Center
This year's Conference will once again focus on leading edge computer graphics applications in a multi-disciplinary context. In the General Sessions, students will hear speakers from around the country discuss topics ranging from aesthetic theory in graphic imagery to electronic media education. After the Sessions, students will be able to attend various Post-Conference Workshops in which they will see demonstrations and be able to explore concepts and resources related to special interests in computer graphics applications. The Conference will also feature a Noncommercial Exhibition of various examples of graphics applications, an Art & Design Show, a Film & Video Show and a Trade Exposition where students will be able to see current products from leading manufacturers around the country. Call 686-3537 for a brochure or for specific registration information.

For more information on these courses call the
CONTINUATION CENTER at 686-3537
or stop by 1553 Moss Street