will be the large voter turnout because all the "undecideds" are running to Neil," Kulongowski said.

Tate thinks the outcome will depend on absentee ballots, which are reportedly at an all-time high.

"It ain't over until the fat lady sings," said Tate. "I think it's going to come down to some final decisions in that voting booth. I would not be at all surprised to have it decided on the basis of absentee ballots, and I think the Republican party is a whole lot better at getting those absentee ballots."

Both reiterated previous claims of their respective candidates. Kulongowski relayed Goldschmidt's wishes for "new blood" and the "dispersal of that 'good ole crowd'" in the state government.

"We need a change to bring new blood and new ideas into state government. We need a change in the attitude that this state has had toward economic development," Kulongowski said.

Tate voiced Paulus' desire to stick with current businesses and existing resources — agriculture, timber and tourism.

"Norma has learned to work within the bureaucracy in Salem," Tate said.

"She knows how the state government works and what its priorities are."

Both also addressed the issue of funding public education in Oregon and supported increases, especially in faculty salaries and higher education.

In addition, two other candidates; Amy Hawes, a write-in candidate running for U.S. Senator, and Peter DeFazio, running for the 4th District representative seat, were represented at the forum. Their supporters briefly addressed the respective candidates' particular roles in the upcoming election.

Committees' seats open

If a student wants to get involved with decision-making at the University, a good way to do so is to join a student-faculty committee.

The Committees are: Academic Requirements, Academic Standards, Admissions Policy, Advising, Campus Planning, Curriculum, Equal Employment Opportunity, Ethnic Studies, Faculty Personnel Committee, Foreign Study Programs, Graduate Council, Intercollegiate Athletics, Library, Minority Education Council, Museum of Art Advisory, New Student Orientation, ROTC Advisory, Safety Advisory, Scholarships, Scholastic Review, Status of Women, Student Conduct, Student-Faculty Committee on Grievances, Student Financial Aid Advisory, Student Health Service Advisory, Teacher Education, Traffic Appeals Board, University Appeals Board.

Membership on a committee lasts one year; however, a student may reapply for the same position for up to four years.

Committees vary by how often they meet, and how many students can participate on each one. For more information contact Sylvia Shannon at the ASUO office, Suite 4, EMU. The deadline for applications is Friday, Oct. 31.

the shows increased about $16,000 from the previous year, said Jon Pincus, WOW Hall coordinator.

"Our CPA tells us that we're financially, when it comes to balances, the best arts organization in the community," Pincus said.

But paying off the debt and retaining the staff is only part of the battle to keep the WOW Hall open, Pincus said. Only continuous fund raising will allow the center to stay open.

Walter Slocum, a member of the board of directors for the Oregon Country Fair, said it is a "foregone conclusion" that the WOW Hall will receive some money from the fair, which netted about $100,000 this summer. The board is considering giving the WOW Hall about $9,000 and loaning it about $6,000 to repay its bank loan, he said.

"Even with the assistance, it would not remove the need to raise a significant amount of money...to continue operations," Pincus said.

He added that on top of the $25,000 needed now, about $5,000 is owed to staff members who have taken a pay cut since May.

The Other Guy Blinked: How PEPSI won the Cola Wars

by Roger Enrico and Jesse Kornbluth

Coke and Pepsi. They went eyeball to eyeball for 87 years. Pepsi stepped up the challenge, and then it happened . . . The Other Guy Blinked

You will learn how Roger Enrico rallied an entire corporation to battle. After a rocky start as president, Enrico and his Pepsi Team launched the first in a series of advertising campaigns that would carry Pepsi through the '80s and beyond. Its star was Michael Jackson. The industry's reaction: astonishment.
