In it's next governor, Oregon needs more than a manager. It needs a shot in the arm, a kick in the pants, a leader who provides reason to believe that tomorrow will be better than today...we recommend the election of Neil Goldschmidt.

...we rate Goldschmidt the superstar in this race...More than any other candidate in recent Oregon history, Goldschmidt dispels complacency and puts apathy to rout...The Oregonian recommends that Neil Goldschmidt be elected governor Nov. 4 to begin "The Oregon Comeback."

The Oregonian
October 26, 1986

Oregon is at a crossroads. We need a governor who will roll up his sleeves, tackle the tough problems and make Oregon work again...Neil Goldschmidt will make it happen.

Barbara Roberts
Secretary of State
October 24, 1986

For Oregon:
Neil

But in Goldschmidt we find a particular ability to infuse others with his energy and a vow to seek solutions through broad-based coalitions.

Springfield News

(When he was Secretary of Transportation) I as a Republican and he as a Democrat could serve the people of Oregon in common cause. It was a delight to work with him.

Mark Hatfield
U.S. Senator
September 5, 1986

Goldschmidt is intelligent, but his true genius is surrounding himself with bright, creative people...With Goldschmidt as governor the state gets the additional bonus of talented people he will attract to public service...For a tough job in tough times, Goldschmidt is the better choice for governor.

Salem Statesman-Journal
October 12, 1986

The state needs a dreamer, an adventurer, a fighter...and a doer in the governor's seat. Goldschmidt brings these dimensions to Oregon's capitol; Paulus does not.

Coos Bay World
October 21, 1986

I strongly commend to you Neil Goldschmidt for Governor...he has a compassion for and understanding of older people...On behalf of the elderly...which I surely am myself...I say there is no one in all of the west who is better qualified for Oregon's next Governor than Neil Goldschmidt.

Claude Pepper
U.S. Representative
October 15, 1986

Neil Goldschmidt has brought to the job (Secretary of Transportation) some refreshing ingredients: political shrewdness, a sense of what it takes to get a consensus in government. A big picture guy, he understands quickly how all the pieces fit...He is real-world smart.

Lee Iacocca
Chairman, Chrysler Corporation
1980

Goldschmidt is a leader. He has shown creative leadership as mayor of Portland and U.S. Secretary of Transportation. His strength lies largely in the fact that his style was not molded in Salem. Oregon needs a new style of leader, one who is not afraid to speak out, take risks or take action.

Redmond Spokesman
October 21, 1986

Many of Oregon's senior citizens walk an economic tightrope: balancing their food costs against their housing costs and their health against their home bill. As Mayor of Portland, Neil went to bat for programs that helped meet those needs.

Ron Wyden
U.S. Representative
January, 1986

To lead, you have to have optimism and you have to have a vision. Neil's vision for Oregon not only includes a state free from sexism and racism but new ideas on how to get there. That's why NOW endorsed Neil for Governor.
