What do you think of Measure 6, banning most state-funded abortions?

'I feel that if you can't afford it, then the state ought to pay. Only the rich would be able to get abortions. It should not be passed.'

Howard Gordon, freshman, biology

'I don't think it's a good idea. It seems it could be interpreted wrong. It could start infringing on personal rights that the government should not infringe on.'

Ellen Kesten, community education

'I myself don't personally agree with it (abortion), and everybody has their own set of circumstances. It's not going to stop abortion to stop the funding.'

Julie Goodman, sophomore, sociology

'I feel it's appropriate to give people a choice... it's their right to decide. Abortions only for the health of the mother... I think that's from the Middle Ages... really barbaric. Putting legislation on a moral issue is not appropriate.'

Rebecca Edwards, junior, biology

'First of all, I'm against abortion. But on the other hand, if people need the abortions, they need them. This is a poor state, a lot of people wouldn't be able to afford them.'

Bob Seawick, graduate international business

'For me it's no. If the state cuts funding, they have to pay later for the welfare of the child.'

Farzan Turk, senior, biology
