

Ducks trounce Arizona for eighth straight win

With under a minute to go in the women's basketball contest between Oregon and the University of Arizona at McArthur Court Monday night, Wildcat coach Wendy Larry had seen enough of a sloppy, foul-ridden game and emphasized the point by waving the traditional white towel for surrender.

"I figured out which team was prepared to win tonight, and they were certainly the better team," conceded Larry.

As ugly as it was, the Ducks will take this one — an 83-63 blowout for their eighth straight win. The victory keeps the Ducks neck-and-neck with the University of Washington atop the Pacific 10 conference standings with a 3-0 mark (9-2 overall).

In a game that saw 49 turnovers, 38 personal fouls, three Arizona technicals and one black eye (belonging to Oregon's Lauri Landerholm), Oregon coach Elwin Heiny got his usual production from his starters and some key minutes from a few reserves.

Kris Glidden, a 6-foot-3 junior forward, came off the bench to tally 14 points and a game-high nine rebounds in what proved to be a very physical battle underneath the basket. "We were just posting up a lot, and the forwards saw us really well," Glidden said.
