International Spanish boy is lama

KAPAN, Nepal (AP) — Tibetan Buddhist lamas are seeking an auspicious date to enthrone a 2-year-old Spanish boy they believe is the reincarnation of the leader of a major monastery.

The Buddhist parents of Ozel Iza Torres brought him to India last month and are planning to take him to the Kapan monastery, where he is to take the seat of the late high lama Thubten Yeshe.

Ms. Torres said the Dalai Lama, the leader of Tibetan Buddhism, has confirmed that Ozel, born near Granada, Spain, on Feb. 12, 1985, is the reincarnation of Yeshe.

National Court arguments begin

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge, taking unusually quick action, began hearing oral arguments Monday in Lt. Col. Oliver North's challenge to the legal standing of the independent counsel looking into the Iran-Contra affair.

Meanwhile, the president's daughter called for the court-martial of North and former National Security Adviser John Poindexter, and a member of the Senate Iran-Contra panel said grants of immunity to North and Poindexter could come soon though other officials said it was too soon.

The afternoon court arguments came after the independent counsel, Lawrence

Walsh, filed a court brief asking U.S. District Court Judge Barrington Parker to dismiss a second lawsuit by North, calling it a "desperate" effort to derail a criminal investigation.

declined to participate in a FEMA exercise.

Councilman Roger Rutan agreed saying, "What are we, the city of Eugene, (doing) giving direction to our federal government, supposedly via this resolution, about ... how we prepare for our national defense. I think it's ludicrous ... I think we're sticking our nose in an issue to fan the flames."

Councilor Wooten gave an opposing viewpoint. "I think it's the council's position that we should recognize and state in a symbolic way, if not a concrete one, that ... we don't crease by a penny per pack and proceeds would be directed to treatment of AIDS patients under a bill that's been introduced in the Oregon Legislature.

Sponsored by Rep. Ron Cease, D-Portland, HB3324 also would direct the tax money to programs aimed at preventing the spread of the AIDS-related virus.

An insurance reform bill introduced in the Senate would require insurance companies to reduce malpractice rates for businesses by 25 percent.

The measure, SB977, sponsored by Sen. Bill Bradbury, D-Bandon, would also give the state insurance commissioner authority to review all commercial and professional insurance rates and require insurance companies to prove their rates are justified.

want our state, our county, and our city to participate."

Councillor Jeff Miller called the FEMA plan an exercise in futility, and derided the loss of federal dollars on the project. The only way to prepare for a nuclear attack is to "kiss everything goodbye," he said.
