Oral defense

What is this backlash against the Reverend Oral Roberts? The Reverend is obviously not asking for money for his personal gain; he is going to use it to help the oppressed in the Third World.

Since when is it a crime to help your fellow man through charity?

Where were the stone throwers when Bruce Springsteen, Bob Geldof and all the other left-leaning pop-artists were using their influence and popularity to rape the American public of their money to raise funds for USA for Africa?

Maybe if the Reverend picked up an electric guitar, put on a Beastie Boys t-shirt and shouted, "You've gotta fight for your right to party," then this whole issue would be moot.

Without religion

The ODE seems emptier now. Professor Rousseve has contributed his last comment on agnosticism and religious faith. I and many others miss the thoughtfulness and elegance with which he presented us with his thinking.

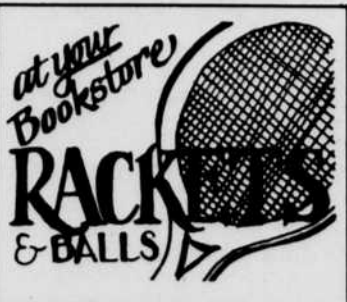

Letters Policy

The Emerald will attempt to print all letters containing fair comment on topics of interest to the University community.

Letters to the editor must be limited to 250 words, typed, signed and the identification of the writer must be verified when the letter is turned in. The Emerald reserves the right to edit any letter for length or style. Letters to the editor should be turned into the Emerald office, Suite 300, EMU.

A recent respondent to one of his letters suggested that Dr. Rousseve move from his agnostic stance. He has done so. He is now a post-agnostic atheist.

World words

Thank you for your coverage before and after the World Game. The articles were well written and thorough. However, there is one error that requires a correction. The March 4 article indicated that the event was a fund-raiser for OSPIRG. That group supported the game in spirit, but did not co-sponsor precisely because it was a fund-raising event. They have requested a printed correction because the fund-raising component conflicts with their way of doing things.
