

Lachkar, Mooney declare bid for presidency on SPA ticket

By Carolyn Lamberson

Sarah Lachkar and Jodie Mooney, stressing diversity and the importance of equal student representation in government, have announced their candidacy for the ASUO presidential and vice-presidential positions.

Lachkar and Mooney, running on the Students for a Progressive Agenda ticket, each have a year's experience in student government and said they represent a broad-based selection of student groups and individual student interests.

Lachkar is a junior international relations major with a double minor in business and French. Currently she is the ASUO assistant finance coordinator, is involved with the Sister University Project and is a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority.

Her involvement with the financial aspect of government will be an asset to her candidacy, she said.

"My work as the assistant finance coordinator has put me in contact with many programs. I am able to see what each groups' needs are and what the individual student's needs are," Lachkar said.

Mooney is a second-year law student and currently chairs the Incidental Fee Committee.

"I know the budget process inside and out," she said, adding her experience as a law student gives her insight into state law that a non-law student would not have.

Mooney also stressed her non-traditional student status as being important in bringing diversity to the SPA ticket. The fact that she is a member of the gay community will help her in representing minority groups on campus fairly, she said.

One issue Lachkar and Mooney would like to see stressed in student government is student empowerment.

"A lot of students don't realize the power conferred to them by state law," Mooney said, citing the fact the ASUO is one of a few student governments in the country that allocates its own fees through the incidental fee process.

"This is one of the most powerful student governments in the country, and that is precious to us," Mooney said. "To lose that, even incrementally, would be a real disservice to students."

Lachkar and Mooney have worked closely this year through the budget process and said they work well together and complement one another.

"We have a good working relationship," Mooney said. "I tend to be a good administrator. Some people have said I have run the IFC this year like a machine, just cranking groups through (the budget hearings). But I'm good behind a desk, and as a vice president that's real important."

"Sarah on the other hand is better qualified to deal with the public," she added.

Other issues the candidates will focus on will be improved
