Landerholm, Pelayo garner MVP honors for Ducks

Lauri Landerholm capped off a brilliant career when she was named most valuable player at the Oregon women's basketball team awards banquet Monday night.

The senior guard, who gathered Pacific 10 Conference Player of the Year and Kodak All-District VIII honors earlier this year, averaged 18.5 points and 6.9 rebounds a game while leading the Ducks to their first NCAA tournament appearance in three years.

Landerholm finished her career at third place on Oregon's all-time scoring list (1,783) and fifth in career rebounds (619).

Freshman Stefanie Kasperski received honors for top newcomer, while the most inspirational player went to guard Carol Drouet.

Senior Gabi Neumann was honored with the Carl Greve Award signifying achievement in both athletics and academics as the team's top student athlete.

At the Oregon wrestling team's awards ceremony Sunday night, Shon Lewis was named the recipient of both the Jed Kesey-Lorenzo West Memorial Award and the Howard Wicklund Trophy.

The Kesey-West award is presented annually to the team's most improved wrestler, while the Wicklund Trophy is awarded to the most valuable wrestler.

Lewis, a sophomore, led the Ducks in victories with a 27-5-2 record en route to a second-place Pacific 10 Conference finish and a trip to the NCAA tournament.

Roberto Pelayo received the John Miller Memorial Award for dedication, and Todd Cox was honored with the Grant Henjyoll Memorial Award for outstanding contributions.

James Knott captured most valuable freshman honors.
