International U.S. tariffs

OISO. Japan (AP) — New U.S. tariffs on some Japanese products should not affect the over-all relationship between the two allies, American trade representative Clayton Yeutter said Monday.

He said imposition of the duties last Saturday was not a protectionist act and the U.S. trade deficit will not be eliminated by solving individual issues, but he urged Japan to increase imports and drop quotas on foreign goods "as a matter of principle."

Yeutter said the new tariffs imposed by the Reagan administration represent "a relatively small blip ... on the screen of economic relationships between the two countries" and should not be permitted "to cloud the much more important economic and political relationship."

Arafat reunites

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — PLO chairman Yasser Arafat, reunited with two hard-line guerrilla leaders after a four-year schism, opened the Palestinians' parliament-in-exile Monday with a defiant call for a Palestinian homeland "with Jerusalem as its capital."

Rival factions of the Palestine Liberation Organization "now all stand together, united until the final liberation of Palestine," Arafat declared.

The Palestine National Council opened its 18th session in the heavily guarded Club des Pins conference center 15 miles west of Algiers. It was a personal triumph for Arafat because the two largest factions which had opposed him returned to the fold.

Clad in his familiar green battle fatigues and black-and-white checkered headdress with a pistol strapped to his hip, he was wildly cheered by all the PLO's previously squabbling factions.

Letter criticizes

MOSCOW (AP) — A paper has published a letter from a former prisoner criticizing Soviet labor camps and asking that more information about them be released.

Western diplomats said it may be the first letter published in official mass media criticizing the camps, about which almost no official information is available.

Account seized

INDEPENDENCE (AP) - A 4-year-old boy's $18.28 bank account has been seized to help pay an overdue medical bill by his father.

The garnishment of young Sean Russell's trust fund account helped pay a medical bill of nearly $1,000 that his father, Floyd, incurred last year.

Lemon Law gets juice

SALEM (AP) — Oregon's so-called lemon law needs a "heavy hammer," said supporters of a bill passed Monday by the House to toughen regulations of faulty new vehicles.

The measure, HB2599, which now goes to the Senate, provides tougher penalties for automobile manufacturers who fail to arbitrate in good faith according to the state's current "lemon law," said Rep. Peg Jolin, D-Cottage Grove.

The new penalties would triple the potential damages that could be awarded to consumers on defective vehicles.

The present law, which was approved in 1983, defines a lemon as a new automobile that has been in the repair shop for more than 30 days in the first 12,000 miles.
