prize if their designated Ems player hits a home run in the seventh inning, and the Prince Puckler's baseball throw, where two or three young fans can win a gift certificate if they toss a baseball through a hole in a Prince Puckler's sign.

The Emerald Ladies, varsity cheerleaders from Churchill High School, continue to gain popularity. They hand out the bats and caps at the gate, collect the trivia answers from fans, and work at concession stands all to raise funds for their cheerleading squad.

Another favorite in past years, 25-cent Beer Night, was canceled at the end of the 1986 season. Beer Nights were causing too many problems said the Oregon Liquor Control Commission.

"I'm glad they canceled it," said Rick Brandsness, who first attended an Ems game in 1961. "There were obvious blatant abuses of it. Kids were drinking it, and last year a bunch of people got into a beer fight. I'm glad they got rid of it."

Another spectator who's been coming to Ems' games for three years said, "I didn't see any problems with it. It was kind of a pain to have (security officers) walking through the crowd asking for I.D.s."

"Things are going very well this year. We've got a good, young team. Most of the players are just out of college," he said, adding the Ems have the Royals' top three draft choices in this year's draft and their top two in last year's on the current roster.

"Attendance is up and so are sales," he said. The Emeralds drew 121,000 fans to last year's games, which included the playoffs. The Ems' June 16 season opener drew a single game record of 6,875 fans.

Box seat tickets for Ems' games cost $4 for adults and $3 for children, and general admission seats cost $3 for adults and $2 for children. Senior citizens receive a $1 discount.
