Computers

The lounge also limits the amount of time students can spend on a computer during busy hours.

After more questions from Thompson and other committee members, the ASUO Executive gave its recommendation.

"The Executive feels very strongly about the request,"

ASUO President Kasey Brooks said. "I don't think it's humanly possible to feel more strongly about a request," she added in giving her support.

Finance Coordinator Mike Sauerwein added if a group can document more than one quarter of the student population uses it, the group deserves to receive the requested funding.

The committee approved to grant the request 3-0-1, with Thompson abstaining. The money will come from the ASUO overrealized account, which is generally used for major improvement projects.

Grievance

According to the new rules, formal grievances now must be submitted in writing.

In addition to the time restraints, grievants may seek a hearing for their complaints.

The hearing committees in these cases will be comprised of faculty members who will make recommendations regarding the disposition of grievances.

If grievants remain unsatisfied with a committee's recommendations, the decision may be appealed to the school's president or an appointee of the president. If the grievant still remains unsatisfied, he or she then may appeal the president's decision to the board.
