While decorating the cityscape, shelters in the downtown area provide sanctuary from the rain for many LTD riders.

In addition, the buses serve the five outlying communities of Veneta, Coburg, the McKenzie River Highway and all small towns along it, the Dexter-Lowell area, the area along State Highway 58, and Junction City, Bergeron said.

Special programs for students include an unlimited term pass, which costs $44 per term, he said. "The pass is only available to students, faculty and staff of the University," he added.

Other options include a weekend fare, which is 30 cents per adult rider as opposed to the normal 65 cents charged during the weekdays.

An adult monthly pass is available for $20, a senior citizen pass is available for $10.

Riders also may pay $2.50 for five one-ride tokens. At 50 cents per token, this is 15 cents off the normal weekday fare.

"The system also provides service to sports and sporting events," Bergeron said. There are shuttles available to both the football and the basketball games, he added.

"The police let us use an express lane, which drops everyone off at the front gate and avoids traffic," he said. It is fast and efficient, he added.

There are also three different express routes: the 11X Express from Springfield to Eugene, the 36 Express providing service from the Westmoreland Student Housing Complex to the University, the 51X Express providing service from the outlying community of Santa Clara to downtown Eugene, Bergeron said.

"Additional information about LTD programs will be available in the Riders Guide, which will be sent to all households in the Eugene-Springfield area, and becomes effective Sept. 20," he said.

What does the future hold for the L.T.D. bus system?

reduction in gas prices hasn't stopped that growth," he added.
