practice field for daily doubles. But daily doubles would have never been a part of Dennis' life if he hadn't relinquished his first love, soccer, to take up football when he moved to Salem after his parents' divorce. At Cascade, Dennis made the Oregonian's Class AA all-state football team and connected on 11 of 14 field goal attempts to help the team to a 21-3 record over two years. Despite this, the only serious offer he received came from Oregon.

"I thought I had a scholarship to Stanford, but when Jack Elway came in (he replaced the fired Paul Wiggins in 1984) he threw all the files away and they took a guy from Texas. "It doesn't matter though, because I'm glad I came here. It's been good in every way," Dennis said.
