

...and Russell Lawson helps put them on.

Nathan Walker

blow to the chin, losing to Stanford 35-7. But judging by the performance of the Ducks through seven games, a 180 degree turnabout from last year's game may be in order. California did not play in a bowl game last year, and Oregon will obviously want to impress its home fans.

While the Rose Bowl may be out of the question for this year, Oregon could put itself in position to play in a bowl game with seven or more wins. Once again, though, the Ducks would probably need some good public relations jockeying to secure something like that.

Maybe now would be a good time for former Oregon football standout Ahmad Rashad to do an insightful look as to why Chris Miller hasn't been signed by the Atlanta Falcons, and both of them could put in a few good words about their alma mater. Maybe John Robinson could visit the Ducks locker room and inspire the team to launch a dynamite running attack. Maybe, just maybe, it'll be a Homecoming game worth remembering. ©

KAMPUS

Barber Shop

- * Personalized service
- * Dry style cuts for men and women
- * Women ask for "Rae"
- * Any length of hair-any style of cut
- * Beard Trims
- * No appointment need
- * Mon. - Fri. 8 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.

NEXUS
NATURE AND EARTH UNITED WITH SCIENCE

343-7654

818 E. 13th

1/2 BLOCK OFF CAMPUS ON 13TH-WHERE YOU

"Watch the scenery go by"