

Training Continued from Page 6

"There has been a very dramatic increase in interest about in-service training on the part of school districts, which are probably ill-prepared to deal with the issue," Dizney said.

The focus of the DEBT training will be to integrate teaching substance abuse issues into other academic areas, Hasegawa said.

"We don't want an English teacher to stop teaching English or a science teacher to stop teaching science and start teaching about drugs," he said. "If you're a literature teacher and you teach literature that deals with these issues, like Fitzgerald or Hemingway, then the students will be better able to deal with it."

The first part of DEBT training will involve 10 internships at area substance abuse agencies.

"We'd like to see what the agencies can offer classroom teachers," Dizney said.

Internships began this month and will last two terms. The second phase of DEBT training will be two classes, to be taught by Pataniczek during the upcoming summer term.

Both will be called Drug Education and Prevention for Teachers and will be worth two credits. The first class will be offered the week between spring and summer terms and the second between July 7 and 9, Pataniczek said.

Part of the grant money received by the University will be used to offer 20 tuition scholarships for the course.

The DEBT is planned to run for two years, the second year being a "fine-tuned" version of the first.

Hasegawa said he hopes the DEBT will be only the beginning of training teachers to deal with other important issues that they may have to deal with in schools.

"We're hoping that we're going to produce a model for including information not only about drug education," he said, "but about AIDS, death and dying, all of those sensitive things that school teachers end up having to deal with."

Et al.

MEETINGS

University Video Project Interns organizational meeting today at 1 p.m. in 364 Oregon Hall. Interested telecommunications and film, journalism, rhetoric and communication and instructional technology students are encouraged to attend.

The University Outdoor Program begins its winter lunchtime video series today with two nordic ski videos: "Sawtooth Odyssey" and "Backcountry Skiing." The showings begin at 12:30 p.m. today in the Outdoor Program office, in the EMU basement.

The Pre-law Society meets today at 4 p.m. in 164 Oregon Hall.

Alpha Phi Omega will have its first chapter meeting of the term tonight at 6 in EMU Cedar Room A.

Asklepiads meets tonight at 7 in EMU Century Room A.

The Presidential Scholars Association meets tonight at 5 in EMU Century Room A.

Student Senators: There is a University Senate meeting today at 3:30 p.m. in 129 Law Center. All senators must attend.

American Studies Forum meeting today at 12:30 p.m. in 204 Villard.

Alpha Kappa Psi, the professional business fraternity, meeting tonight at 5:30 in 330 Gilbert. Guest speaker is Dennis Hopwood, Spectra Physics Retail human resources manager.

Men Against Rape meet tonight at 6:30 in the EMU Forum Room before the Geoff Morgan concert.

Internship options orientation meeting today at 2 p.m. in 237 Hendricks.

Pi Gamma Mu Social

Science Honor Society meets tonight at 5:30 in EMU Century Room D.

LECTURES

Gil Peach speaks on the Hood River conservation project, a prototype energy efficient community, tonight at 8:15 in 107 Lawrence. The lecture is sponsored by the Solar Energy Center.

John Stuhr, Humanities Center director and philosophy professor, reads a paper entitled "Do American Philosophers Exist?" today at 4 p.m. in 314 PLC. The lecture is sponsored by the Philosophy Club.

MISCELLANEOUS

Roman Catholic Student Mass tonight at 9 at the Newman Center, 1850 Emerald St. Bible study begins at 8 p.m.

Rally by the Muslim Student Association today at 10 a.m. in the EMU's northwest courtyard to inform students about the current situation in the Middle East.

Food for Lane County distribution today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in 167 EMU (Fir Room). Students and community members who qualify financially are eligible. Bring identification with current address.

Deadline for submitting Et als to the Emerald front desk, 300 EMU, is noon the day before publication. Et als are run only once. Events with a donation or admission charge will not be considered. Events occurring nearest the publication date and campus events will be given priority.

Academic Speed Reading Course

Expect Results:

Learn to read your academic assignments with greater efficiency and with better comprehension.

The heavier your reading load, the more you will appreciate this class. The techniques really work!

Instructor:

Ms. Janet Gilbert, who comes to the UO from the Bay Area, where she taught speed reading to Berkeley students.

Sessions:

Two sessions are being offered Winter Term:

Tu/Th 3:30 - 4:30 Jan 19-Feb 25

Saturdays 10:30 - 12:30 Jan 23-Feb 27

For More Information:

Contact Academic Learning Services 108 Library 686-3226

RESUMES

Give your resume a professional look by having it typeset at the Oregon Daily Emerald's Letter Perfect Graphics located in Suite 300, EMU, or call 686-5511.

GRAND OPENING
of our 2nd
Campus/Sacred Heart
Location

13th & Hilyard
(In front of Oregon Art Supply Frame Shop)
JAN 11-15

FREE DRINKS
with every FRISCO SANDWICH or FRISCO STICK
At the new location only.

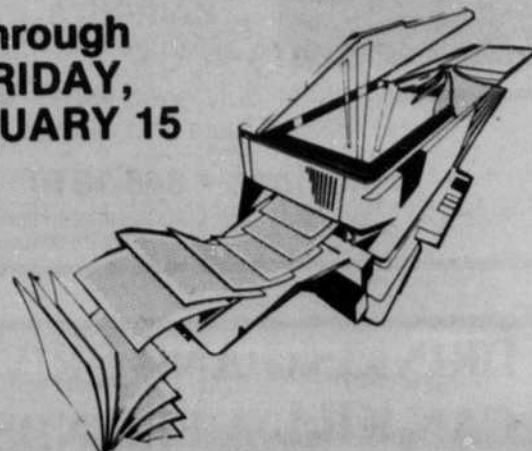

DON'T MISS IT!

Campus Copy Center

WILL BE OPEN
extended hours

8:00 A.M. to 7:00 P.M.

Through FRIDAY,
JANUARY 15

They're Back!

MAXSAVERS

Incredible savings on Airfares

Example of Savings:
From Eugene
- NYC * Boston
- $238.00 RT
- Denver * Chicago
- $198.00 RT
- Orlando * Miami
- $238.00 RT

CALL US NOW!
Seats Going Fast!

Call
Eugene Travel
#687-2323

831 E. 13th, Eugene

OPEN DAILY until 9:00pm
Sat & Sun. 10-4pm

Wednesday, January 13, 1988