Catalyst Films and The War Resistance Center Present 3 Recent Films for PEACE IN CENTRAL AMERICA
All three films, made in 1987, give fresh perspectives on the current crises in El Salvador, Nicaragua and Guatemala.

Heartstrings: Peter, Paul and Mary in Central America
7:30 and 10:30 pm

The music and compassion of the classic folk trio's tour of El Salvador and Nicaragua shed light on state of affairs. Includes interviews with Pres. Daniel Ortega, Contras, villagers, and of course their music.

Fire From The Mountain
8:30 PM Only

Based on Omar Cabeza's acclaimed autobiography, this film traces the Sandinistas' struggles to liberate Nicaragua over the decades. Concludes with a look at the U.S.-backed Contras versus the prospects for future peace.

Under The Gun: Democracy in Guatemala
9:30 PM only

Supposedly, the election of Pres. Vinicio Cerezo returned civilian control to Guatemala in 1986. Interviews with church and union leaders suggest the military, backed by the U.S., is still firmly in control, continuing its brutal oppression as before.
