Berry's 222 yards rushing are second on the team, and the junior fullback has also scored two touchdowns.

still get flashes in my mind about track. I'm glad I'll get other chances to respond to last year. The whole season was disappointing."

Berry was visibly upset after the NCAA meet last June at Hayward Field after failing to make the long jump finals and finishing sixth in the triple jump.

He is already talking about "unfinished business" next season.

"I've always had to be the first to jump up, and talk a lot. It gets me up. I tell the other team that we'll be coming down their throats, we're going to crush them. But that's all in the game. Off the field I'm a quiet guy. When I'm on the field I don't want them to think they can intimidate me or the Oregon team."

Is he ready for Washington? "I'm excited because it's a game. I'm even more excited because I sat out last week, even more so because its Pac10, and even more so because it's Washington."

That's an attitude the statistics just can't reflect.
