The school record-holder in the triple jump, Oregon's Phillis McKinney is taking things one step at a time in her attempt to qualify for the NCAA's.

McKinney closer to standard

By Ashley Conklin
Emerald Sports Reporter

It seems that Phillis McKinney has picked up where she left off last season. The senior horizontal jumps performer is jumping at nearly the same level early in the 1989 season as she did at the end of the 1988 season. For the school record-holder in the triple jump, that means an NCAA qualifying standard should be just a hop, skip and jump away. "It seems like deja vu," admitted McKinney. "I'm thinking a lot about qualifying (for the NCAA meet). I want to get it over with."

McKinney came close to meeting the NCAA standard in the triple jump with a new meet record of 41-2 1/4 in last week's Pepsi Team Invitational, just off her school record of 41-2 1/2 and just shy of the 41-4 1/4 national qualifying mark. McKinney owns the top triple jump mark in the Pacific-10 Conference this season and is also among the top 10 in the
