

O'Carolan's Consort

The relaxing, joyful and peaceful folk music of O'Carolan's Consort offers a unique blend of ancient and contemporary sounds that appeal to young and old alike.

The band's music features magical harp melodies and popular folk songs of the British Isles.

The folk harp, hammer dulcimer and bowed psaltery are accompanied by guitar, flute and pan pipes as the group weaves together original, contemporary and traditional folk melodies.

Balafon Marimba Ensemble

The nine members of Balafon Marimba Ensemble are dedicated to sharing their style of African, Latin American and Caribbean music.

The band plays on its own self-styled blend of bass, baritone, tenor altos and soprano marimbas.

The interlocking rhythms and melodies are combined with a polyrhythmic beat provided by small gourd rattles called hoshos.

The group performs original arrangements of high-energy dance music from Africa, Latin America and the Caribbean.

The Swing Beans

The music of The Swing Beans has been described as a tasty brand of bluegrass swing.

The group's cassette release "Groovin' in the Garden" blends such classics as "Caberet," "Satin Doll," and "Mr. Sandman" with clever originals done in the swing style.

The band features three vocalists with the instrumentation of violin, mandolin, guitar and bass.

Jim Kuoni

Jim Kuoni, an appealing folk artist, involves his audiences with a blend of music ranging from his own original songs and stories to unaccompanied traditional ballads.

In January of 1987, Kuoni released his debut album, which includes his award-winning song "Ring the Bell." Kuoni is an accomplished autoharp player, and he also excels in guitar and banjo playing.

Kuoni frequently works with school children throughout Oregon in the Artist in Residence program.

Unstuck in Time

Unstuck in Time, a brass and woodwind quartet with a post-modern attitude, appropriates elements of jazz, classical and folk music of the world to create a unique musical experience.

The group has recently appeared at Seattle's Intiman Playhouse, and has been featured in the radio program called "Sandy Brady's Potluck."
