

Nagamoto, Grall named to women's Pac-10 team

Kumi Nagamoto and Cindy Grall were the big winners on the Oregon women's tennis team, as Nagamoto picked up the team's Most Valuable Player award while Grall was named the squad's Most Outstanding Performer.

Nagamoto and Grall were also the only Oregon players named to the Pacific-10 Northern Division All-Conference team, announced last Friday.

Cindy Olejar of Washington was named as the Player of the Year, while Husky coach Lisa Moldrem took Coach of the Year honors.

Grall is a senior right-hander from Bend who finished the 1989 season 11-5 at No. 3 singles, while Nagamoto, a junior from Yamato, Japan, wrapped up her season with a 12-6 record at No. 1 singles.

Grall and Nagamoto also teamed up as double partners at times, compiling an 8-1 record.

Kathy McCall (13-5), a junior from Gladstone, was named the Most Improved Player on the Oregon squad; Amber Goheen (14-4), a junior right-hander, took Most Inspirational honors; and the Coach's Award went to Jennifer Tachibana (5-5), a freshman from Lake Washington High School in Redmond, Wash.

The Ducks finished the 1989 season with a 15-1 dual record.

Bartlett gets MVP award from men's tennis team

Peter Bartlett was named Most Valuable Player of the Oregon men's tennis team, an announcement made last week.

Bartlett, a senior right-hander from Menlo Park High School in California, finished the 1989 season 18-8 at No. 6 singles, the most wins on the Oregon team.

Elsewhere, Washington's Ian Schroeder was named Friday the Pacific-10 Northern Division Men's Player of the Year, and Husky coach Doug Ruffin was named the Northern Division Coach of the Year for the fourth consecutive season and fifth time in six years.

Schroeder joins Pat Jennings and James Hazard of Oregon as the only repeat selections to the All-Conference team. Schroeder repeats as player of the year.

Junior right-hander Kevin Cory from Los Altos, Calif., was named Oregon's Most Inspirational Player, after finishing the season 15-8; and junior Jon Weinberg was named Most Improved.
