Stephanie Snyder and Stephanie Drier) all in a serious moblike pose with the title "Hit Squad."

"I like it," said Krebsbach, who takes on the look of a mob leader in the poster. "They did a great job on it, but I have mixed feelings about what other people, like the other teams, might think about it. I don't want to be looked at as a stud or anything."

"Nobody wants to be a last place team — you just don't want to be there," said Krebsbach, the 6-1 outside hitter who was named the team's Most Valuable Player last season while earning all-Northwest Region honors for the third straight year.

"We have five starting seniors, and this is the last time we'll be playing together," she said. "If we don't do it now, it's not going to happen. We don't have next year to think about, so we might as well give it our all now. I think we can do really well."

Krebsbach, who topped the team in kills 22 times last season while picking up double figures on 23 occasions, will lead the team once again, along with outside hitter Terzian, a healthy Snyder at setter, middle blocker Drier and Kuhn.

The Ducks also have last year's freshman sensation, Dawnn "Cheerios" Charroin, battling for a starting position. Charroin is a 6-1 middle blocker. Also set to compete are sophomores Mindee Adams, a 6-0 outside hitter, and setter Molly McGrath, who started much of last season after Snyder's knee injury.

Julie Jeffery, Oregon's most improved player of a year ago, returns, as does Ali Watkins and three freshman middle blockers. Gretchen Hughes, Jennifer McGinnis and Marcie Price should provide the Ducks with some depth on the front line.

Head coach Gerry Gregory returns for his fourth season at Oregon and expects to see an improved team in the fall, one that will battle for an upper division finish in the tough Pac10 Conference.

"We had a mix of veterans and youth (last season) which is usually a good situation, but we lacked leadership," Gregory said.

"Our young players developed and we started four freshmen at various times and that's encouraging. We should be improved because we don't lose much," Gregory said.

"This (losing) has been a new experience for me and I hope I never have to go through it again," he said.

But as Gregory will tell you, it's tough to avoid losing in the Pac-10, which is getting to be a tougher conference each year.

"Everyone's improving," Krebsbach said. "The players are getting better in general. They're starting earlier, playing on club teams. It's just getting to be a more popular sport."

Gregory agrees that the Pac-10 is the toughest conference in the land "because of the academic reputations of the institutions and the outstanding volleyball tradition. Finishing ninth last year is not what we expected. We grew from that experience and should be back about it. I think it will be a challenge and exciting — that's what I want, excitement. It's not going to be boring. It has the combination of both. I don't want to work in the office, but it's got its share of paperwork, which is fine.

ODE: Will you be playing volleyball anymore?

MK: If I played anymore it would only be for a year or so. I wouldn't mind playing in Europe. I would do that if it came up. I'll just wait and see; otherwise, I'm not going to worry about it. I kind of want to move on with my life and get some other things started, but I don't want to quit and totally give it up.

To be a normal student is my dream. I think it will be fun. I've gotten into the habit of being so organized, not having volleyball there and having all that free time, I'm worried that I'll get bored (laughs). I'm going to have to stay active somehow. I'm anxious for it, just to see what it's like. Like now, when we have a Monday off, it is so nice just to get up, take a shower, to get dressed nice, to go to class all day and not worry about a thing — it's such a relief. I'm like everyone else and it's nice. I'm looking forward to that.

ODE: Do you have any advice to offer to the players just starting out?

MK: We have so many people coming back this year that they'll probably feel they're not going to play much. I would really encourage them to work hard because they'll get better sooner and in there faster. Keep positive about the whole thing and have fun. You can make it fun if you want to.

ODE: How would you like people at this university to remember you?

MK: I guess I'd like to be remembered as somebody not big on publicity. Probably even-tempered. Good, but not cocky. I don't want to be looked at as a snob by somebody younger than me, but somebody that was nice and wanted to be your friend and was a good volleyball player too. The all-around person. I guess (laughs).
