Will White of the Student Activities Resource Office is one of the two University students who coordinates the activities of the EMU Gallery.

Despite this, the building still stands out because of its different look and the large salmon that guards its entrance.

Apart from the two museums, there also are several galleries on campus that host exhibitions throughout the year.

The EMU Gallery, located on the second floor of the EMU adjacent to the Ballroom, is one that offers different exhibitions throughout the year. The Gallery, maintained by the Student Activities Resource Office, is run by University students Will White and Karen Bubb.

The gallery is dedicated to providing students with a variety of cultural experiences.

White said.

"Our big project for the year is dealing with the sensitive issue of AIDS through a series of site-specific installations in the gallery and throughout the EMU," he said. "We will be attempting to confront the many issues surrounding this pandemic."

Yet another gallery that White and Bubb work on is the EMU Aperture Gallery located in the EMU Lobby.
