Despite this sign's promise of coming soon, work on The Collegian first began in 1987 and still isn't finished.

Collegian Continued from Page 6

Corby Lang, a sophomore from Wyoming, arrived in Eugene Wednesday, also expecting to move in.

"It would have been nice to know (about the delay) beforehand," Lang said. "I'd like to get in, but there's not much we can do about it."

A week's inconvenience, however, may be worth the wait. The Collegian charges a steep price (the fall term rate is $2,350 for the largest room at single occupancy) but will deliver housing accommodations unparalleled in the area.

Occupants of The Collegian will receive housekeeping and daily food service. All rooms will feature air conditioning and heating, a balcony, an intercom speaker, a sprinkler system, a private bathroom and furnishings. Second floor rooms also will have a skylight and a spiral staircase leading to a loft.

But with scaffolding instead of staircases, and the whine of saws instead of the quiet comfort of a completed residence, it most likely will be months before the last construction worker leaves the site of The Collegian and the complex is ready for full occupancy.

OUR STYLISTS DON'T CUT CORNERS.

About the only kind of cut our stylists won't give you is a cut in quality. Perhaps that's why more men, women and children turn to us for attractive haircare at an attractive price.
