Musgrave got the Ducks to the 18 with two passes and two penalties. From there Loville carried three times, scoring from the 6. Musgrave then hit Obee with the two-point conversion as Oregon pulled to 27-24 with 22 seconds remaining in the third period.

Coming right back, Garcia shredded the Duck secondary, throwing for three first downs on completions of 16, 10 and 31 yards respectively. On second-and-goal from the 2, Broussard went in, giving Washington State what seemed to be an insurmountable lead at 34-24.

But Oldham made the big play when it was needed, returning the kickoff 89 yards to the Washington State 6. Two plays later Musgrave hit Thomson and it was 34-31.

Then came the turning point of the game, and the downfall for the Ducks.

After forcing the Cougars to punt for the only time in the game, Oregon took over at its own 17.

Musgrave hit Reitzug for six yards to the 23, and then went deep for Reitzug on the right sideline, but was picked off by Ron Ricard at the Washington State 33.

"Bill probably didn't use very good judgment there," Brooks said. "He tried to go with the out-and-up which we had used earlier in the game. It was well covered. He should have come off of that and thrown to someone else."

Washington State added a touchdown and field goal after that for a 44-31 lead as the game was basically over with three minutes to play.

inability to stop the Cougars came up again and again.

"What they do, they do well," Kearns said. "They really caught us off guard with their two tight end set. They really got us off balance with it because it was something we had never, ever saw from them."

"They ran the ball better than we expected," Schuler added. "They ran the two tight end, two wide receiver formation a lot which is something they used sparingly in the past."

Our defense just didn't adjust."

As Brooks looks ahead to Saturday's game at Washington, he said he believes the Ducks will have to dig a little deeper for a win.

"This is not a happy place to be going right now," he said. "The Huskies have lost three straight. Going up there, this is kind of a gut check for both teams. We'll see exactly where we're going to go with the rest of our season."
