School of Architecture to display early faculty and student artwork

Gallery 141 will show the works of University faculty and students and memorabilia from the first 25 years of the School of Architecture and Allied Arts from Oct. 16 through Nov. 3.

The exhibit, entitled "A&AA Art and Memorabilia, 1914 to 1940," is part of the School's celebration of its 75th anniversary. Artists included in the exhibit are curator Max Nixon and wife, Hattie Mae; sculptors Avar Fairbanks and Oliver Barrett; painters Andrew Vincent, David McCosh, Alfred Schroff, Lance Hart, Michael Mueller, Eyley Brown, Brownell Frasier, Noland Zane and Maude Kerns; potter Victoria Avakian Ross; architecture professors Wallace Hayden and Harlow Hudson; and former students Nelly Best, Fordon Filkey, Dan England and Frank Dobson.

A free public reception will be held on Oct. 16 at 7 p.m. in the gallery which is located by the courtyard in Lawrence Hall.

Bryan Hayes will debut three new choreographed dances during performances next week.

danced his way around the world.

Since the formation of Bryan Hayes and Dancers, the dance company, they have performed in a variety of downtown venues including the Merce Cunningham Studio, Eden's Expressway, Douglas Dunn Studio, The Dance Gallery and Rapp Art Center.

"I invited them to the University because the dance style is different from other choreographers and the experience is different visually," Descutner said.

Tickets for the two performances will be available at the door and will cost $3 for students and $5 for the general public. The performances are sponsored by Dance Oregon, the Department of Dance and University Theatre.
