Mibra musician Dumini to perform Saturday night in the EMU's Ben Linder Room at 7:30 p.m.

Mibra musician Dumini to perform on campus

The music of Zimbabwe and other African nations will fill the EMU's Ben Linder Room Saturday evening when Mibra musician Dumini takes to the stage at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for the concert are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

Dumini is the musical mentor for many Northwest musicians, said Maggie Donahue. Donahue, who is a friend and a student of Dumini's, said her interest in African Mibra music was sparked off by a concert Dumini performed at several years ago.

Donahue said Dumini has a strong following in the Northwest and throughout the nation. In addition to his being a musician, he also is a teacher of the art.

It was through his teaching local band Shumba formed several years ago, a band that Donahue herself played with, she said.

She said Dumini, who is from the Shona tribe, "cares so much about bridging the cultures" which he tries to do with his music.

Dumini will be in Eugene with his family. His three children will perform with him at the concert.

"It's going to be intimate, moving, uplifting and it will broaden the consciousness. It will be warm and powerful," Donahue said. "It will make you feel something of the African experience and how we're connected."

This may be Dumini's last concert in this region as he is preparing to return back to Zimbabwe soon, Donahue said.
