AIDS related events scheduled

Several events are planned today and this weekend in Eugene in observance of the World Health Organization's second annual "AIDS Awareness Day" Dec. 1.

The Community AIDS Consortium is holding a rally today from noon to 1 p.m. in the Park Block between Pearl and Oak Streets south of Eighth Avenue. Participants are invited to bring their lunches to the rally, which will feature speeches, songs and theater presentations.

Those who attend the rally can learn about Lane County's involvement in the prevention of AIDS, show their concern for people with AIDS and remember those who have died from AIDS in Lane County.

Also Friday, many local art galleries will drape their most prominent works with black fabric as part of "A Day Without Art," a nationwide event planned to recognize people with AIDS and promote greater support and understanding in the general public.

More than 400 museums, performance groups and galleries across the nation are taking part in "A Day Without Art," including the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum and Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City and the Museum of Modern Art in Los Angeles.

Local galleries participating include the EMU Gallery, Aperture Gallery, Maude Kerns Art Center, New Zone Gallery, Photo Zone Gallery, Gallery 141, Opus 5, Vistra Gallery and Cappers Frames and Prints.

The Willamette AIDS Council is raising money for the Council for AIDS Prevention during Eugene PeaceWork's Give A Peace A Dance marathon. Half the pledges it collects will go to AIDS prevention and the other half will go to PeaceWorks. To sign up to dance or pledge, call the Willamette AIDS Council at 345-7089.

PeaceWork's ten-hour dance marathon will jam Saturday from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. at WOW Hall, 291 W. Eighth Avenue. Doors open at 3 p.m. for people with $30 or more in pledges.

Admission to the dance is free for those with $30 or more in pledges; a $5-7 sliding scale charge for others. Bring two cans of food for the victims of the San Francisco earthquake and save $1 off admission.

Keillor to return to airwaves

Garrison Keillor returns to the airwaves of KLCC 89.7 FM with his all new program — Garrison Keillor's American Radio Company of the Air — on Saturday, Nov. 25 at 6 p.m.

"The impulse of the show is so uncomplicated," Keillor said in a press release. "It's slightly embarrassing to put it down on paper. We want to do a live Saturday-night show from New York that is funny and happy, hype-free, and full of classical American music of all kinds, performed by the best people we can find, and to give our audience, in millions of homes (of all kinds), a radio show that will make them glad they didn't go to the movies."

Lake Wobegon will be part of the show, as well as some other elements from Keillor's former radio show, A Prairie Home Companion. The music will not be limited to folk/stringband/country as before, and the show won't focus on performers so much as on a body of classical music.

The program will be broadcast live from New York's Brooklyn Academy of Music.

The format is that of a twohour live variety show. Classical American music — including theater music, popular songs, jazz and folk — will comprise over an hour of the total broadcast time, with the remainder a blend of Keillor's humor, writings, and interplay with his special guests and other Radio Company members.

Keillor's American radio Company of the Air will alternate with rebroadcasts of A Prairie Home Companion, sharing the same time slot of 6 to 8 p.m. on Saturday nights. The new program will run for four consecutive weeks beginning Nov. 25, followed by several weeks of A Prairie Home Companion, after which the new show will resume. Listeners should check local listings and tune into KLCC for schedule information.
