

Regional

Goldschmidt speaks on abortion

PORTLAND (AP) — Gov. Neil Goldschmidt says abortion foes need to understand that decisions on abortion should be left to women.

Goldschmidt made his comments Saturday night at a banquet sponsored by the pro-choice Oregon National Abortion Rights Action League. About 150 anti-abortion activists picketed the banquet.

"The message they ought to get is that this is not an issue that government should be getting involved in," Goldschmidt, a Democrat, said.

Attorney General Dave Frohnmayer, the Republican candidate for governor this year, also attended the banquet and said he hoped "we can get beyond this issue" in the governor's race.

Goldschmidt, who has yet to announce plans for a re-election bid, is expected to face Frohnmayer in November's general election.

About 900 persons, including an array of Democratic and Republican politicians, crowded into the banquet at the Hilton Hotel.

Kate Michelman, executive director of the National Abortion Rights Action League, said the dinner was the largest such event ever organized by a league affiliate anywhere in the country.

Oregon NARAL plans to work this year to assure pro-choice majorities in the Oregon House and Senate, and the national organization has targeted 5th District Rep. Denny Smith, R-Ore., for defeat.

The banquet raised about $48,000 for that campaign.

Michelman admitted in her address that abortion was a difficult issue.

"It involves fundamental moral, religious, ethical and political questions," she said. "But Americans are finally getting it that the real question is: Who decides? The woman and her family or politicians?"

"People are saying that they don't want government involved," she said, citing victories last fall for pro-choice candidates in the Virginia and New Jersey governor's races and local elections.

Archaeology Continued from Page 5

map, and its location is eventually fed into the computer. The result is a three-dimensional recreation of each islet and its structure.

From work done on Pohnpei and Nan Madol, Ayers has been able to determine where the inhabitants of the island originally come from.

"Based on the artifacts and the language, they most likely came from areas to the south, from island chains that are north and east of New Guinea.

"They were part of a movement of people out of that region that began around 3,000 years ago," Ayers said. "Some went north into the chain of islands to which Pohnpei belongs, some east and some further north."

Ayers added that after moving north, the islanders moved back west, and some moved east into Samoa, Hawaii and some as far east as Easter Island.

"There's a lot of oral tradition," he said, "but it's not necessarily reliable. It's incomplete. Mostly, there's not a lot of information."

Some of the smaller islands were used for everyday tasks, such as preparing coconut oil, or making canoes, while others were the homes of chiefs, or were specifically for burying important officials, Ayers said.

Unearthing a civilization's two thousand years, it will help us understand the current Pohnpeian culture," Ayers said.

"Pohnpeians that have been away to school no longer share a lot of knowledge of their grandfathers or grandmothers," he said. "In a way the historic distant past is important to understanding its present day culture, Ayers said.

'One of the aims of anthropology is to better understand the cultural differences, because there's so much continuity in the Pohnpeian culture when you look at how their culture developed over a thousand or two thousand years.'

— William Ayers

"One of the aims of anthropology is to better understand the cultural differences, because there's so much continuity in the Pohnpeian culture when you look at how their culture developed over a thousand or preservation help them maintain a cultural identity, which is often lost because of the severity of Western contact. It's now being sort of resurrected."

Even after more than 10 years work, Ayers said he is still uncertain when 90 percent of the area was built; about 40 percent of Nan Madol has yet to be mapped.

COUPON

SPRINGFIELD SPAS

Private Outdoor Hot Tubs and WOLFF Tanning

PRESENT THIS COUPON FOR $2.00 OFF any rental INCLUDING:

- HOT TUB or
- GIFT CERTIFICATES or
- TANNING PACKAGE

1110 Main Street Springfield 741-1777

Daytime $6/hr. (reg. $10/hr.)
Eves. (Sun-Thurs) $8/hr. (reg. $10/hr.)
Eves. (Fri-Sat) $10/hr. (reg. $12/hr.)
Rates are for 2 people

WOLFF Sun CENTER

COUPON

AMBASSADOR

UNIVERSITY BRANCH
831 EAST 13TH
683-5577
Toll Free 1-800-888-3799

Hours 8:00 to 5:30 M-F
9:00 to 1:00 Sat

Lowest Fares Anywhere!
ALL MAJOR CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED

European Auto R.E.P.A.I.R.

Bosch Authorized Service

BOSCH SERVICE

- Gasoline Fuel Injection
- Anti-Lock Brake Systems
- Diesel Fuel Injection
- Electrical Systems
- Hybrid Ignition
- Electronic Systems
- Accessories

AAA Approved Auto Repair Tune-ups • Brakes Japanese cars also

ASA ASE

1917 Franklin Blvd. Eugene 485-8226

EMPLOYMENT Central Intelligence Agency

Unique professional opportunities for those seniors and graduate students in the following disciplines and at the degree level shown:

	Degree Levels
	B	M	PhD
Asian Studies		X
Business Administration		X
Chemistry		X
Computer & Info Science	X	X	X
Economics	X	X	X
Foreign Languages		X
Geography	X	X	X
History		X	X
International Relations	X	X
Mathematics	X	X
Physics		X	X
Political Science		X	X
Public Administration		X
Psychology			X
Russian	X	X

All initial assignments are in the Northern Virginia area. Some require foreign travel. U.S. citizenship is mandatory. Extended applicant processing time.

Obtain your prepaid application from the Career Placement Service, Hendricks Hall. Complete and mail it by FEBRUARY 15, 1990. Qualified applicants will be interviewed at an early date.

An Equal Opportunity/Alternative Action Employer

AT Guido's RESTAURANT

TUESDAY NIGHT IS PIZZA NIGHT

4 Toppings of your choice
$9.75 14" Large Pizza

5:00 pm 'til closing

13th & Alder 343-0681

SHARE A RIDE