A broken heart is what makes life so wonderful five years later, when you see the guy in an elevator and he is fat and smoking a cigar and saying long-time-no-see.

— Phyllis Battelle

INSIDE

Page 3.....Do you feel queasy and disgusted by the mere mention of hearts and flowers? Mike Freeman has a few remedies to make you liven up on this sickeningly sweet holiday.

Page 4.....For those lovers looking for a special surprise for their beau or beaus, a creative telegram may be just the thing. Daralyn Trappe provides information on Eugene's telegram companies.

Page 5.....Remember those flimsy, box-of-50 Valentines that everyone got in grade school? Martin Thiel freshens your memory of such days, when the holiday was actually fun for everyone.

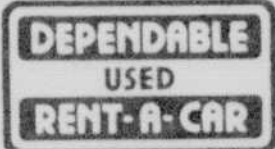

Page 6.....What could be worse than being a Hallmark employee on Valentine's Day? Nothing, according to Thomas Prowell, who provides an exclusive interview with one such unlucky soul.

Page 10.....We can't dole out recipes for a successful love connection, but we can give the gift of healthy yet tasty Valentine's Day treats.

Page 11.....A plethora of reasons could be given for doing away with Valentine's Day, but we've only provided the top ten.
