

"We're in favor of the government providing more options for students to pay off loans," Hughes said. "We're opposed to making students jump through hoops in order to get a higher education."

USSA is proposing that the community service occur after college rather than before. USSA also wants it to be truly voluntary, giving students the option to pay their loans back through some kind of credit system instituted through community service.

Students should also have the right to pay off their debts by getting their own job if they chose to, Hughes said.

Another proposal by Bush would force universities to withhold financial aid checks from incoming freshman for 60 days, Hughes said. He said Bush claims this would eliminate the number of freshman dropping out of school who keep their financial aid rewards.

It should be made easy for students to go to school, Hughes said. Restrictions like this will deter the number of incoming freshman creating an erosion of the educational system on the whole.

Although USSA's main focus for this session is economic access, various issues, such as child care and civil rights, will be addressed, Hughes said.

Community issues will also be discussed, said Armando Morales, vice-chair for USSA. "This is a chance to explain to senators about the problems of the community as well as the students." He said he will address such issues as housing, homeless, drugs and alcohol.

The March 1 to March 5 conference will include intensive workshops and discussions on the Clean Air Act and other pending legislative bills, outlining lobbying strategies and implications of the bills if they are passed, Hughes said. Various political speakers will also be in attendance.

"The workshops will train people to lobby Congress using the most effective methods available," said Kelvin Wee, co-chair for the International Student Caucus.

In addition, region representatives will be meeting to discuss the effects of different legislative proposals on their own areas, Hughes said.

The Reverend Jesse Jackson will lead USSA's final lobbying efforts at noon March 5, on the west Capitol steps in front of the Capitol Building, Wee said. March 5 is National Lobby Day.

University USSA members have appointments next Monday to see State Congressional representatives Peter DeFazio, Les AuCoin, Ron Wyden, Senator Mark Hatfield and Senator Bob Packwood, Hughes said.

The three board members, Hughes, Morales, and Karen Gaffney, affirmative action officer, will be accompanied by three appointed University students, Lisa Lawrence, Heidi Schultz of the Survival Center, and Bob Hult of Men Against Rape.

"I'm excited about having the opportunity to go to D.C. to help lobby for the higher education budget," Lawrence said. "It's important that we get our needs across."

Tim Hughes

"I not only see myself as a representative of the University of Oregon but as a representative for women and students of color," Lawrence said.

Lawrence will also be attending the student of color caucus, a meeting for minority students to discuss the implications of financial aid changes on their community.

The University is one of 127 colleges nationwide that will be attending the weekend conference in Washington D.C. sponsored by the United States Student Association.

Hughes urges students who are concerned about financial aid cuts to write a letter directly to their Congressional representatives.

have been exposed to the virus.

Jackson said the chance of a campus epidemic is minimal, although health center officials will not know whether the student transmitted the virus for at least the two week incubation period for measles.

"It is one of those diseases that can cause epidemics," Jackson said. "We do know that 90 to 95 percent of students probably are protected against measles even if they've had one measles vaccine."

The Student Health Center is recommending students and faculty who were born after 1956 and immunized prior to 1977 receive a second measles injection because of deficiencies in the old shot.

To prevent a measles problem, the health center announced Monday it would offer free measles shots to students weekdays from 1 to 4 p.m. until March 16.

"The reason that there's a problem is that it has been shown in the last few years that the original measles shots children received when they were young are beginning to wear off," said Dr. Michael Dunn, who is in charge of the health center's immunization program.

Dunn said measles is more serious in older individuals in terms of symptoms because children's immune systems are more suited to battle the disease.

Jackson said the student was the first measles case at the University in at least 11 years, but that it is not unexpected.

Five cases were reported at Southern Oregon State College last year, and over 20 cases have been reported this year at South Eugene and Willamette high schools.

The Oregon State Board of Higher Education voted at its Feb. 16 meeting to require all incoming freshman to have two measles vaccinations before being admitted to prevent further outbreaks such as the one at SOSOC.

"We clearly know that there have been outbreaks at other college campuses," Jackson said. "I don't know why the University of Oregon would be any different."

Jackson said he does not foresee a vaccine shortage problem that is facing several private clinics in the community.

"We might run into a temporary problem where we have so many students coming in, but I don't foresee a permanent problem," he said.

CLASSIFIEDS

Visa and MasterCard gladly accepted.

346-4343

100 CONNECTIONS

SIGMA CHI
So glad you're coming over to eat. We can't wait to meet!
KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Communicate with friends through Classified personal ads.

SNOWBOARDERS - if anyone wants to help me put together some sort of UO Snowboard Club. Call Lea 345-0385.

SPAM COMMANDOS
Who are you kidding? We all know my aura and all those brain cells are in Tahiti. Say goodbye to the cheese cake. Et

100 CONNECTIONS

Gamma P. and Sigma C. - disc jockeys HATE IT when plans get change after dates have been set! Peace. A dub. Mr. Twist - D.D.

ATTENTION! Carol B. Ha Ha Ha made you look! The Big Kahuna. MIRANDA we met Fri night - I never got to thank you for the beer - give me a call Todd 342-8341

MARCO-PIERRE - je m'ennuis. Je m'isole icitte et je veux que tu sois a mes cotés. Tu me manques. J'te - Janaeu.

NAO (M-M)T
YO! BABY BABY!!!
You've got that smile.
Pouring from your eyes.
Let me sit with you awhile.
and be hypnotized.

T. YRAM
TO THE cross-eyed girl with the wig and false teeth. Sorry, I'm just not interested.

100 CONNECTIONS

DEANO - thanks for saving my skin. HATE IT when plans get change after dates have been set! Umbrella woman from Hell!

TO SAE'S B.M. - Hey Amadeus, you make wonderful music! Thanks for the weak scream, but it'll do! Happy 4th Anniversary! Love, Twerp.

H.K. - Gee, I'm getting pretty thirsty... can I invite a new color yet? This time you listen to side A song No. 1 Love. CEMSB

KEND
You are such a model PARTNER. Thanks for being there for me when I really needed you.
Love/Hate, Chrissy

105 PERSONALS

OREGON SOFTBALL
Thanks for the game - we had a BLAST! Let's do it again!
OREGON BASEBALL

105 PERSONALS

Hey everybody - I'll follow my sweet heart (CB) anywhere. Love, Your Club Volleyball Setter.

MARIA AND KARMA - I'm sorry you guys can't make the trip. I'll enjoy the sun for you. Brett J.

JULIA D. - I'm just thanking you for mally for V.R.C. Your nickname is "fishwoman" Brett J.

KKF
Mardi Gras was incredible! Your moms really know how to get down. We hope the marriages last.

ATQ

TCF MAJORS RESERVATION FOR SPRING TERM
MAR 1, 9-12 SRS, GRADS
12-3 JRS, SRS, GRADS
MAR 2, 9-3 ALL TCF PREMAJORS

105 PERSONALS

KΣ
New York, New York, Manhattan, The Met, Central Park, Sax, Fifth Avenue from elegant limo rides to Pink and Blue, it was quite a glamorous bash you threw. The Stars came out for our night in the "Big Apple". Thank you for an evening of pazzazz, we will always remember. Love.

ΔΓ
TRI-DELTS KELLY, JEN G., MICHELLE N. AND SUE M.

Thanks for "bonding" Sat Night. I guess you could say this bachelorette went out in style! Thanks for the limo, la bait's, AC/DC, champagne, The Party, the Keg, and "James". It was a night I'll never forget! (and it's on film!) You guys are the greatest!! Love, Lara. P.S. You'll all be in my heart Sat. P.P.S. Steph S. - you're a liar!

105 PERSONALS

PLANNED PARENTHOOD for Pap smears, infection checks, birth control & counseling. Days & evenings. Call 344-9411

XΩ
STEEP AND DEEPERS KIM AND PAULINE THANKS FOR A GREAT WEEKEND. LOVE SCOTT AND BLAKE HOPE TO SEE YOU SOON!

ΣΦΕ
ALL (no volleyball), PERF. YNA, P.S. will rage. No kissing wrong boys. goodnight Love Dawn.

'89 COLLIER & OTTO'S 281 STUDIO
Linda's birthday party is Saturday!
For info. call 746-7487

I heard it through the grapevine...

Advertise today!

In the Emerald Classifieds

Doonesbury

BY GARRY TRUDEAU

EXPRESS YOURSELF AT LAA DEE DAH

Resale Designer Clothes

- New ethnic clothes
- New silver jewelry from Bali
- Turkish kilims

Need Designer Clothes for Consignment
For information please call 683-2329
468 Willamette (5th & Willamette)
Open Mon-Sat 11-5
Closed Sunday