Attackmen John O'Dea and Jessie Paddfield each had two goals and an assist to lead the Club Sports Lacrosse team to a 9-4 come-from-behind win over Willamette Saturday at Salem's Marine Park.

The Ducks were down 4-0 after one quarter, but turned up the defensive pressure the rest of the way to take the win. Goalie Rob Toni made 15 saves for the Ducks, who outshot Willamette 41-19 for the match.

Rob English, Tom Johnston, Jon Clarenbach, Eric Bernecker and player-coach Pete Adamson each had single goals for Oregon, 3-2 on the season. Scott Danford, Carl White, Scott Seal and Zach Povey all played strong defense for the Ducks.

Oregon travels to Portland this Saturday to meet Multnomah. Oregon's next home action is April 21 against Portland and April 22 against Pacific Lutheran.

Amy Eileff shot a 252 and Lynn Yonemoto a 275 to finish 34th and 44th, respectively.

Parks shot a 220 over the three days for the individual championship, followed by Paige Gilbert of Arizona at 224. Christy Erb and Elizabeth Bowman of UCLA finished third and fourth, respectively.

The Club Sports soccer team announced it is open for try-outs. Anyone interested should contact the University Club Sports office at 346-3733.

Ice Hockey

The undefeated Eugene Blues got two late empty-net goals to secure a 5-2 win Friday over the University Club Sports ice hockey team.

Tom Goodrie had two goals to lead the Blues, 10-0-1, while Tom Scudder, Marc Thomas and Tom Drury each had single scores. The Blues outshot the Ducks 39-19 for the game.

Club Cycling

Cindy Isreal and Jennifer Vendetti finished seventh and eighth, respectively, to lead the women's Club cycling team to a first place finish in the road race division of last Saturday's Collegiate Cycling Association Races at Pullman, Washington.

Vendetti and Isreal also finished fourth and eighth, respectively, in the 15-mile criterium event as the Ducks took another first and grabbed the overall meet championship.

Oregon State won the women's team time trials, followed by Washington State and Oregon. In overall scoring, Oregon State followed the Ducks with Washington State taking third.

Bill Randleman took fourth and Dan Kling ninth in the men's road race event, but the Oregon team could finish no better than third as a team in the event. Washington State took first in the 55-mile road race, followed by Oregon State and Oregon.

Randleman and Mark Landree finished fifth and eighth, respectively, in the 15-mile criterium event, but again Oregon finished third, behind Oregon State and Washington State.

The Ducks also finished third in the team time trials, just 28 seconds behind winner Oregon State.

Randleman said the Ducks might have finished higher, but that they were without three of their top riders because of "scheduling conflicts."

Randleman also said Club Sports cycling is looking for cyclists, particularly women, for the team.

"That's one thing we want to stress," Randleman said. "We want to get more women involved."

Randleman said that the club now has approximately 10 men for every woman involved. Those interested should contact Club Sports at ext. 3733 or Randleman at 683-2803.

Oregon will host a race Saturday, April 22. It will include U.S. Cycling Federation riders, university teams and novice riders.
