

Ducks to host Pac-10 tennis event

Fresh off a 5-4 victory over the Portland Pilots on Tuesday, the Oregon women's tennis team is looking forward to some home cooking this weekend in Eugene.

Revenge will play a factor when the Ducks play host to Washington and Washington State in the Northern Division Pacific-10 Conference championships.

The three-day event, starting Friday and ending Sunday, will feature a round-robin style of play that matches Oregon against both the Huskies and the Cougars. The number one and two singles players from each school will face off with the number one and two players from both of the other two schools. The remaining singles players, numbers three through eight, will follow the same format

The tournament will give the Ducks a chance to regain some of the pride that Washington took from them last season by waltzing through these very same championships without dropping a single match.

"Last year Washington finished the tournament with a 40-0 record," Duck coach Tom Greider said. "This is our chance to show them how much we have improved since then."

Last season the Huskies handed the Ducks their only loss of the season, but a much tougher schedule this season has helped to make the Ducks a team to be reckoned with.

"Last year we were 15-1, but we didn't play a very difficult schedule," Greider said. "However, this season we have played, and been clobbered by some of the nation's top teams, so we have improved and now we aren't afraid of being beaten."

This weekend's matches should provide Greider with an idea of just how much his team has improved.

"We would like to improve on our 13-27 record of a year ago," Greider said, "and we'd rather the improvement come against the Huskies."

"We did very well against Washington State last year and should be able to improve upon that, but our main concern is seeing how well we can compete with Washington."

Greider plans to go with the same line-up that has helped the Ducks to a 12-7 record this season with Kumi Nagamoto, Hilary Roberts and Amber Goheen playing one, two and three singles, respectively. He is looking for an added boost from the number two doubles team of Roberts and freshman Shelly Brandt.

Tennis team wins easily

Playing with four freshmen and two sophomores, the Oregon men's tennis team took a dominating 9-0 win over Southern Oregon Wednesday in Eugene.

Tennis coach Buzz Summers, confident of an easy win, gave his younger players some valuable experience while allowing his veterans a day off. The results, to say the least, pleased Summers.

"I thought our freshmen handled it well," Summers said. "They're good players. They have a lot of talent."

The Ducks jumped out to a 6-0 lead, sweeping to six easy straight sets wins in singles play. Only one Southern Oregon player was able to win more than four games and that occurred in Kevin Settlemire's 6-0, 7-5 win over Donni Anderson in the No. 3 singles match.

Robert Atkin opened the match in the No. 1 position and took a win over Drew Brown, 6-2, 6-2. Christian Oelke followed with a win over Monte Helderman by the same score.

Ted Thoren, one of two sophomores competing for the Ducks, took care of business in the fourth position, handling Southern Oregon's Brian Allen easily, 6-2, 6-1. Kevin Govro took a 6-2, 6-1 win over Brian Allen in the fifth singles match.

Doug Root, the team's other sophomore competing, finished singles with another 6-2, 6-2 win, this one coming over Mark Hamilton.

Things didn't get any better for Southern Oregon in doubles play, where the Ducks swept to three straight-set wins on the day.

Today's scheduled match with Lewis & Clark has been canceled, but could be made up later. Oregon travels to Salem to meet Willamette next Tuesday and hosts Azusa Pacific next Thursday.
