the long jump, a personal record that earned her second place behind Boise State's Stachia Neeley (19-1 1/2).

"I'm happy; it's still another step in the right direction," Kohlmeier said.

Having Neeley jumping against her was a big plus, Kohlmeier said. Kohlmeier later went on to win the 100 hurdles easily and helped Oregon grab second in the last event of the day, the 4x400 relay.

"Early on, we got the performances we needed," Oregon coach Tom Heinonen said. "I never even got my performance chart out."

Saturday's cool, cloudy conditions took some of the zip out of the sprints but proved helpful to the distance runners.

"It was kind of a distance day," Heinonen said. "From 800 meters up we were really solid."

Stephanie Wessell and Lisa Karnopp placed second and third in the 3,000 behind last year's Pacific-10 Conference champion in the 3,000 and 5,000, WSU's Jennifer Robertson. Karnopp surpassed her own PR by three-tenths of a second in the process.

In the 800, the Cougars' Celestine N'Drin ran away from Oregon's Kim Hutson for the victory. Hutson was still all smiles after the event, having set a PR of 2:09.81 and holding off Boise State's Christine Olen for second place.
